at Noonday Meeting

Declaring that the doors of the Middlesex county district attorney's office will in the future remain wide open for every man and woman having business there, and praising Lowell members of the bar for their honorable reputation in all dealings with brother members of the legal fraternity throughout the state, Enright, Teabody, Saltonstall, the new district attorney appointed to succeed Mr. Tufts when the latter was removed from office, received an enthusiastic reception from more than 100 members of the Lowell Rotary club this afternoon.

Dinner was served in the club hall on Dutton street at 12:30, an excellent menu being offered with the chief staples roast lamb and fruit salads. Several new members joined the club this noon, among them being Edward Freeman, the well known jeweler, Mr. Freeman got a happy send-off when he was introduced and cheered.

Other newcomers introduced and warmly welcomed included William W. Dean of the United States Cartridge company and Edward J. Hyland of the E. J. Hyland Textile Co.

The banquet opened with all rising and singing "The Star Spangled Banner." Songs were sung after dinner.

A profit of $700 was made on the United States Marine band concert, and the committee was heartily cheered when it made its report through the chairman. An educational committee appointed includes Edward Carney, Harold Howe and "Red Snow."

It was voted to give $75 to the and being raised by the Nashville Rotary club to pay off the mortgage on Sgt. York's home in Tennessee.

MAYORALTY FIGHT WAXING HOT— CAPT. MOLLOY DROPS OUT

What Politicians Say of Political Situation—
More Candidates for Councilor and School
Board—Com. Murphy Not Mixing in Fights

"The combat deepens. On ye brave,
Who rush to glory or the grave."

The sentiment in the above couplet may well be applied to the present situation and while many of the candidates hope to win some glory out of the contest, they must remember that the vast majority will go down in defeat at the primaries and that just half of those on the final ballot will also sink into what may be their political graves. For some of the candidates, we might say a great many, the political grave is already yawning to receive them, although they are strutting in the arena with all the confidence of victorious champions.

The situation might be compared to the surface of a placid lake into which one projectile after another is being cast to cause a circle to spread over the waters only to be again disturbed by another missile to cause a similar commotion and a series of circles that may be compared to the strength of the various candidates from large to small, and finally, as Shakespeare puts it, "dispersing into naught."

The latest ripple has been caused by the announcement of Capt. Joseph A. Molloy that he withdraws from the mayoralty contest. Capt. Molloy won high honors in the service overseas, and far be it from us to insinuate that he shows cowardice by withdrawing from the contest. Rather does he show good judgment and so far as fighting qualities may be involved, Capt. Molloy has the good sense to realize that "discretion is the better part of valor."

Mr. Molloy's statement of withdrawal is as follows:

"A few months ago at the urgent solicitation of many of my friends, I

NEW YORK MILK DRIVERS STRIKE

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Approximately 8,000,000 people in New York and surrounding cities found milk and cream supplies missing when they looked out their back doors this morning. The cause was a strike of the milk wagon drivers' union, voted last night, when negotiations for a new working agreement failed.

The milk distributing corporations immediately began posting notices of their determination to put the "open ship" policy into effect and advertised for men.

In the meantime, milk and cream by the millions of quarts was piling up at railroad terminals in the affected area, with the distributors and city health authorities working hard to keep supplies moving to hospitals, nurseries, invalid homes, and homes which are blessed with babies.

CANCER LECTURE AT CITY HALL

The health department is using every means in its power to co-operate with the state department of health in its present campaign to educate the public in regard to cancer, its causes, methods of prevention and cure. The department is sending out a small circular with every letter mailed and through its nurses, dealing with the campaign.

On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, there will be a lecture on cancer at city hall, by Dr. J. Arthur Gage. Nurses at the various hospitals, St. John's, Lowell General, Lowell Corporation and all others, with officers of the hospitals, are urgently requested to attend. This includes nurses from the state infirmary as well as all graduate and practicing nurses in the city and suburbs.

By American Consul at Lisbon Explodes

Police Attribute Outrage to Agitation Over Sacco-Vanzetti Case

LISBON, Nov. 1. (By the Associated Press).—A bomb exploded this morning on the staircase at the American consulate here. No damage was done, however. The police attribute the outrage to the agitation in connection with the cases of Sacco and Vanzetti, the two Italians under conviction of murder in Massachusetts.

The bomb, which apparently was some form of grenade, had been placed before the door of the American consulate. It exploded after the consul, in leaving the quarters, had given the grenade a push with his foot, but the interval intervening was sufficient to give the consul time to escape.

Officials reported that a note found nearby said the bomb was meant as a protest in the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (By the Associated Press).—A despatch from Consul General Hollis at Lisbon, received early today at the state department, reported the bomb explosion in the consulate here. The consul general said the Portuguese government was investigating energetically and would make efforts to apprehend those responsible for the affair. Only trifling damage was reported.

The message said that a note protesting against the conviction of Vanzetti and Sacco in Massachusetts, was slipped beneath the door of the consulate and a few moments later the explosion occurred.

Captain of Cambridge Police Force, Implicated in Tufts
Case, Faces Trial

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 1.—Captain Herbert Gordon was suspended from the Cambridge police force today, and three charges were preferred against him in connection with matters brought out in the trial of Nathan A. Tufts, who was removed recently as district attorney of Middlesex county. Gordon, who was on duty at the district attorney's office as investigator, was charged with engaging in private business while supposed to be performing police duty, with attempting to induce a prisoner, Louis Bennett, to pay money to obtain a parole, and with using his official position to secure evidence in a divorce case. He will be tried before a board of police captains Saturday.

Lloyd George Fails to Force
Allegiance Issue—Wins
Victory in Commons

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Peace negotiations between representatives of the British government and delegates of the Dal Eireann were resumed at the official home of Prime Minister Lloyd George this morning. Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith, representing the Dal Eireann, arrived in Downing street at 11 o'clock, accompanied by Erskine Childers, secretary to the Irish delegation.

It was said they went there in response to a message from Mr. Lloyd George.

The meeting lasted for 25 minutes, after which it was stated that another committee meeting of the conferees was next on the negotiators' program. The government representatives present were Mr. Lloyd George, Austen Chamberlain, and Lord Birkenhead.

Inquiries in Irish quarters today showed that Mr. Lloyd George's address before the house of commons last night, had done nothing in the direction of precipitating a hitch. He did not force the allegiance issue more strongly than in the past, notwithstanding Mr. de Valera's telegram to Pope Benedict.

Uster remained today the chief difficulty to be overcome, but the prime minister's weighty reference in his address to the cost of failure was taken as the exertion of pressure on Uster to reach an agreement with southern Ireland.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 1.—Delegates to the American Legion's national convention today extended an official greeting to their "buddies," Foch and Pershing.

This afternoon the Legion's big parade is scheduled, with thousands of Legionnaires, members of the Grand Army of the Republic and Spanish War Veterans and others in the line of march.

Legion officials expected to send with some convention routine into the morning proceedings, after which the gathering was to proceed to the Union station plaza, where the memorial Kansas City is to erect in honor of its war dead will be dedicated.

An impressive program has been arranged, with Marshal Foch, Gen. Armando Diaz of Italy, Gen. Baron Jacques of Belgium, Admiral Beatty of Great Britain, Gen. Pershing and John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, Mich., national commander of the Legion, participating.

Five Men, Including Two Dangerous Criminals In Daring Jail Break

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Search was being pushed today for five men, two of whom were said to be dangerous criminals, who escaped from the Raymond street jail in Brooklyn, last night, by climbing to roof on scaffolding, forcing a skylight, and sliding down a rope to an adjoining park. The men are believed to have been aided by confederates who waited outside with an automobile.

SALESMAN SAM

NEW CORSETS MORE POPULAR THAN EVER

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Of "corset" is all settled.

Meaning that the question under discussion at the beginning of the season has been decided once and for all.

The well dressed woman refuses to do without corsets and the American woman has influenced their design to such an extent that no longer do they offer any excuse for old-time prejudices.

Not only is the new corset more popular than ever but its low-busted, slender-lined lines have become an esthetic delight of varied necessity.

Has not your task been completely fulfilled?

"During this time your Second Army impatiently awaited to attack in its turn in the direction of Metz, which already was stretching her arms to us for deliverance; but, harassed and defeated, the enemy laid down his arms."

"A solemn hour, which compensated all the sacrifices freely consented for the cause of right."

"It is you who have made these sacrifices: More than 75,000 of your countrymen were buried in the soil of France! May they rest in peace. Your French brothers in arms watch over them."

"O glory to you who survive them and who enjoy victorious peace. You may well be proud of your past exploits."

"As for me, the great honor of my life will be to have guided along the road of victory the American army of 1918, which was a real grand army, beginning with its commander."

It is the wise woman today who has corsets for all occasions.

There is the all-rubber, flexible short girdle for sports. There is the elastic hip for dancing. Gorgeously and daintiness vie with each other in corsets for evening wear. Handsome brocades combined with lace and ribbons run from orchid, pink and blue—yes, to black. The black corset, once regarded as suspiciously utilitarian, is now the smart thing with thin black evening gowns. White satin shares attention, with brocade for bridal corsets.

Brassieres are, of course, necessary with these low-busted corsets for women who are not built on ultra-slender lines.

Warning of Southeast Storm

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Warning of a southeast storm from East port, Me., to Delaware Breakwater and a southwest storm from Delaware Breakwater south to Cape Hatteras, was issued today by the weather bureau. The storm of marked intensity central over eastern Tennessee is moving northeastward, the warning said, predicting shifting of increasing southerly winds to northwest gales by Wednesday morning, with heavy rain and thick weather.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Adv.

tary effort, prodigious alike in its intensity as in its rapidity. One and all, we have had your share in it. You may well be proud!

"In responding in mass to the call to arms of your government, in equipping, training and organizing yourselves as rapidly as possible, you had in view only the purpose to take your place as soon as possible in the line of battle."

"In numbers: Eighteen months after the declaration of war by the United States on Germany, the American army had passed from effective of 95,000 officers and 125,000 men to 150,000 officers and 3,500,000 men."

"Effort of organization: If, in the month of March, 1918, you had in France but six divisions, six months later you had 41, of which 31 engaged in battle."

"Effort in instruction: In order to have officers, non-commissioned officers and men rapidly trained, you multiplied in America as in France your schools and camps, which became centers of prodigious activity. In order to arm you and camp you the American manufacturers worked without respite and supplied all your needs."

"Admirable effort also in transportation: You swept away every obstacle which interfered with bringing your units from the centers of instruction to the ports of embarkation."

"In France, you improved the ports of debarkation, created new installations, increased the traffic of the railroad system by work of all kinds and multiplied your storehouses and hospitals."

"Your ship-yards were organized for intensive production in such a way that when the war ended you utilized for your ocean transportation almost four millions of marine tonnage. Instead of $4,000 available at the beginning of the war."

"And meanwhile your splendid war fleet, thanks to its vigilance and its fine military qualities, protected with an efficiency to which I am happy to pay tribute here, the transportation of your troops and material."

"A prodigious effort on the part of your entire nation's intelligence, will-power and energy! A prodigious effort which has filled your associates with admiration and gratitude and confounded your enemy!"

"This splendid spirit of an entire nation, this spirit of the battlefields of France, where it was blossomed in the admirable virtues of bravery and heroism."

"It was the spirit of the Second and Third American Army Divisions, which one month later took part in the battle of the Marne and distinguished themselves immediately in the operations around Chateau Thierry and Belleau Wood. Again it was the spirit of those five divisions which, on the 18th of July, participated in the victorious counter-offensive of the tenth and sixth French armies between the Aisne and the Marne and contributed in great measure to that victory."

"Finally, it was that spirit which animated all the American army units, which on the 24th of July, General Pershing formed your splendid units under his own direct command."

"On the 12th of September, 1918, the first battle on the soil of France, it shattered the enemy from the St. Mihiel salient, where he had entrenched himself for nearly four years, threw him back beyond the foot of the hills of the Meuse. From the very first the American army entered into glory. How many further laurels was it yet to win?"

"The St. Mihiel operation was nearly ended when the American army attacked on a new front. On the 13th of September it was engaged on the right wing of the vast allied offensive. The point of direction assigned to it was Metz, on the Meuse."

"Deployed from the left bank of the Meuse to the eastern coadines of the German defense, a wooded terrain, rugged, difficult in its very nature, and rendered more so by all the defensive organizations which had been accumulated there during the last four years."

"Before it stretched the region of the Argonne, formidable emplacement of the German defense, a wooded terrain, rugged, difficult in its very nature, and rendered more so by all the defensive organizations which had been accumulated there during the last four years."

"Nothing could discourage or check your army. It threw itself with generous ardor into the immense melee. The task was a rude one but it was carried out to a thorough finish.

"Fighting without respite night and day for a month, advancing in spite of the pitfalls and the counter-attacks of the enemy, it succeeded by pure force of tenacity and heroism, in liberating the wild region of the Argonne."

"After St. Mihiel, it could now inscribe proudly upon its banners the name of the Argonne!"

"On the 16th of October, this great task finished, it joined hands with the Fourth French army in the battle of Grand Pre."

"In consequence of this, the enemy's resistance was severely shaken; the moment had arrived to give him the final blow."

"On the first of November, just three years ago today, the first American army again attacked and, in a splendid advance, reached Buzancy, penetrating the German line for more than ten kilometers."

"The enemy, this time retired definitely; the Stars and Stripes at once took up the pursuit and, six days later, floated victoriously over the Meuse reconquered."

"After St. Mihiel, after the Argonne,

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally if You Eat Meat Regularly

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

speech revealed nothing of the progress of the negotiations, it produced the impression that the outlook was almost hopeless.

Victory For Lloyd George

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(By the Associated Press)—The government published its expected manifesto from the house of commons last night to proceed with the Irish negotiations. The Unionist motion, censuring the government for initiating the negotiations, was voted down, 139 to 43.

The premier also achieved another of his oratorical victories before an expectant audience. So far as the movement of protest was designed to draw information as to the proceedings of the conference, it failed; the premier gave no information as to what had been decided, or is being discussed, regarding Mr. de Valera's claim to independence and the rumored attempts to arrange concessions from Ulster for a united Ireland. These remain in the realm of speculation.

One piece of information the premier did give. It was that unless something happened within a few days, presumably in the conference, to solve the unsettled status of Ireland's two governments, steps would be taken to give the Ulster parliament the powers necessary to make it a real government.

Mr. Lloyd George declared that the time to question the negotiations was when he first proposed them to the Sinn Féin by public correspondence, last July.

Much of his speech was devoted to holding before the commons the prospect of a renewal of guerrilla warfare if the conference broke down. He declared the first thing the government would have to do would be to ask the house to strengthen the crown forces, but pointed out the cost of renewed warfare and the reluctance of the country to incur greater taxation and ask more young men to risk their lives. He asserted the government's resolve to refuse concessions which would weaken the empire, but to explore all paths to an honorable peace, and emphasized the fact that any argument must be ratified by parliament.

The motion was proposed by Col.

Former Member of the Philadelphia Health Department Strongly Endorses Wincarnis

Says: "It would be hard to write a better prescription"

"For persons who are weak, anemic, nervous and run-down, it would be hard to write a better prescription than Wincarnis," said Dr. George M. Lipinski, recently, Dr. Lipinski is an ex-member of the Philadelphia Department of Health and is well known in Philadelphia, where he has practiced his profession for many years. "It is an established medical fact," said the doctor, in discussing the subject, "that in almost every case of weakness, anemia, nervousness and run-down vitality, there is a shortage in the body of several mineral elements which are absolutely necessary in the creation of vital power, to make the blood rich and red—to maintain strong, steady nerves—and to promote a continuous supply of bodily strength and endurance.

"The mineral elements required by the body to create vital power are, particularly, iron, calcium, potassium, sodium and phosphorus. When there is a shortage of these elements, the body is deprived of the means of renewing the vital energy which is expended daily, with the result that the strength of the body diminishes—the blood becomes impoverished, the nerves become shaky and the vitality becomes run-down.

"It cannot be too strongly emphasized that it is absolutely impossible for weak, anemic, nervous and rundown persons to regain health, vigor and endurance unless they supply to the body sufficient of those mineral elements that are necessary to create vital energy, to make the blood rich and red, to strengthen the nerves and to promote renewed vigor, vitality and endurance.

"Wincarnis contains these vitally necessary mineral elements in remarkably suitable proportions and in an absorbable form, and that is why I maintain that it would be hard to write a better prescription than Wincarnis for persons who are weak, anemic, nervous and run-down."

Dr. Lipinski is not the only physician who has acknowledged that it would be hard to write a better prescription than Wincarnis. And one other important point that many physicians recognize is that no drugist could readily put up such a prescription as Wincarnis. The reason is that he would not have on hand and it would be extremely difficult for him to procure all of the ingredients used in making up Wincarnis.

Wincarnis is put up in two sizes—$1.10 and $1.35. It is sold by Burkinshaw Drug Co., 418 Middlesex street, and by all first class drugists. Write for free instructive booklet, "Hundred-per-cent Health. How to Obtain It," to Edward Lassere, Inc., Dept. J, 430 West 23d street, New York, U. S. Agents for Wincarnis.—Adv.

John Gretton, Unionist, and seconded by Rupert Sackville Gwynne, No conspicuous leaders spoke in its support. Those who most strongly advocated the policy of the motion had much to say on their protests against negotiating with men who had denied allegiance to the crown.

Arthur Henderson, in behalf of the laborites, explained that the party favored the negotiations, although opposing what he termed the previous policy of repression and retaliation.

Ex-Premier Asquith supported the motion, but deprecated the suggestion that renewal of the war was the only alternative if the conference failed. This point of view finds adherents among a section of the Irish experts, who believe that a breakdown of the conference might be followed by a continuance of the truce, pending further effects of diplomacy.

Captain Charles Curtis Craig, the leader of the Ulster Unionist members in the house, announced that they would not vote on the motion if they received satisfactory assurances that the necessary powers would be given the Ulster parliament to enable it to function.

The comment of one veteran parliamentarian was that Mr. Lloyd George's talk of further war was not intended as a warning to the Sinn Féin, but to parliament to not harass those engaged in the negotiations.

HOLY CROSS DANCE

The many Lowell friends of Holy Cross will be pleased to hear the recent announcement of the Merrimack Valley Undergraduate club to the effect that plans are under way for conducting a formal dancing party in the city during the Christmas holidays. Those who recall the brilliance of their party last Easter will be especially pleased. Pres. Albert Bourgeois, '22, at a recent meeting appointed special committees to speed up the preparation of their unique social event.

Brooklynites Who Drove in Auto Caravan to Idaho Happy in Wilderness

By N. E. A. SERVICE
ROSEWORTH TRACT, Idaho, Nov. 1.—Giant trees are crashing down; frame houses are going up; camp fires are burning; songs rise from the tented village.

Thus is "Scotty's Caravan," which reached its destination recently after having motored to Idaho from Brooklyn, N. Y., "getting set" to live in a civilization made out of a wilderness. The caravan originally consisted of 25 families. Four have deserted. The remaining 21 are building their own homes—three-room cottages—and will soon turn to farming.

Just three months ago all of these families were living in steam-heated apartments in Brooklyn.

Today the women in the caravan are tagged out in khaki outing clothes, preparing meals over open camp fires, and keeping house on a few boxes and trunks.

The call of the west came when F. C. Merideth, who, with his brother, former Secretary of Agriculture B. T. Merideth, owns the Roseworth tract, offered good crop land for sale cheap.

William D. Scott, of Brooklyn, organized the caravan and a long string of autos and auto trailers headed for Idaho.

Arrival at Roseworth brought some dissatisfaction. It was feared that the Salmon River canyon, lying between Roseworth and the town of Buhl, would prevent profitable marketing of crops.

A committee of the settlers went to Boise and asked that a suspension bridge be built. Governor Davis has indicated this will be done as soon as the territory is sufficiently built up.

The former Brooklynites say they will never return to city life.

"I want you to see my home," said

J. I. Holder, one of the settlers. "I've built it almost by myself. Some boys from Buhl gave me a hand, but no carpenters were hired."

"Some of us were disappointed at first. Things were a bit harder than we expected. But that's worn off; I believe we have a wonderful opportunity to make a fine thing out of the project."

Parents Are Happy
The real agree with Holder. Families with children are especially enthusiastic about the open country. The nearest school house is six miles away, but the children are taken to and from it in a school auto bus.

Men folk are taking advantage of fine fishing and good pheasant shooting.

"Scotty," the caravan leader, is building himself a log cabin with a sod roof.

Church services at the Roseworth tract are conducted in the open air by Rev. Charles Baird, who drives in from Twin Falls every Sunday.

MEETING AT ARMORY
Important matters will come before Headquarters Detachment and Combat train, 102nd P. A. tonight at the meeting scheduled for 7.30 o'clock in the Westford street armory.

PLAN TO REFUND CANAL TOLLS

Col. Bunau-Varilla, Gives Views on Question to Associated Press

Says Tolls Paid by U. S. Ships Could be Refunded by U. S. Treasury

Would Not Infringe Upon the Treaty Rights of Any Nation

ON BOARD THE STEAMER LA-FAYETTE, Nov. 1. (By wireless, via Paris, to the Associated Press).—Tolls paid by American vessels using the Panama canal could be refunded by the United States treasury without infringing upon the treaty rights of any nation, Col. Philippe Bunau-Varilla, chief engineer of the Panama canal under the French regime there told the Associated Press last night.

He added these refunds should be made from the treasury, and not from the receipts and surplus of the canal, and he said there was no reason why the British government should not refund tolls paid by vessels in transit from the eastern coast of Canada to the western ports of that country.

The British government is reported to have planned to raise the question of Panama tolls at Washington.

In discussing this report, Col. Bunau-Varilla, who is one of the counselors of the French delegation at the Washington meeting, remarked the Panama canal was an essential part of the Pacific problem.

"The canal," he added, "is the gateway of the white race into the Pacific, and, in consequence, matters relating to it could properly be brought before the conference."

The justification of tearing Panama away from Columbia was the construction of the canal for the service of world commerce," he continued. "In doing this, America was accomplishing something not for herself alone, but for all. The high quality of that act should not be reduced by turning to her own ships money paid by the ships of other nations. She could repay the tolls, but not from the canal receipts. When these have reached a sufficient size, they should be used to reduce the cost of transportation equitably to all."

Col. Bunau-Varilla feels strongly the urgency of converting the waterway from a canal into a strait, that is to a sea level canal of such width that it could not be closed by the sinking of a single vessel, by a landslide or by the blowing up of a lock or some other part of the canal.

lower tribunals, with the district attorney and obtain his advice as to how to treat similar cases in the future. He explained how direct sentences imposed in district courts, according to instructions from higher authorities, are constantly reduced by higher courts when taken there on appeals.

The justice wanted impressed on the defendant's mind that he was facing a direct sentence and advised him to get a lawyer and prepare his case. Rochette, who besides the charge named above, was also complained against for drunkenness, first pleaded not guilty to the drunkenness charge, but guilty to operating while drunk. The judge expressed surprise at this apparent inconsistency. Then Rochette admitted guilt. The judge then understood the clerk rightly as an interpreter was called.

Through the interpreter, the accused then pleaded not guilty to both charges. He said he didn't care about a lawyer but at the advice of the court he had agreed to a continuance so that he might secure counsel.

"Although the superior court is only inflicting fines for these offenses," the justice stated, "this court is going to pronounce direct sentences, as such have been my instructions. I don't want to take a fine away from the city of Lowell. I think that if I pronounce a direct sentence, the higher court will reverse it to a fine, judging by what has been done in the recent past. However, before I fine him and let Lowell have the benefit of the judgment, I will let the superior court impose the same judgment for the benefit of the county. I'm going to see the district attorney at Cambridge and obtain some definite idea of this whole business. In the meantime this man can secure counsel."

The newspapers are voicing the sentiment of the people through their editorial columns that drunken offenders operating automobiles be sent to jail. The district courts, at the solicitation of the highway commission, are doing this very thing, but on appealed sentences the higher courts reduce the judgment to a fine."

The judge ordered the clerk to continue the case to Saturday as in the meantime he would have a talk with the district attorney and Rochette could secure an attorney. The case was one that had been continued.

ONE DOLLAR AWARD MADE IN TREE CASE

Miss Ester M. Fitzgerald of Lowell was awarded $1 by a jury in superior court yesterday in a suit against Margaret L. Dunne of Lowell to recover damages, resulting from the destruction of trees said to be on the plaintiff's property. The jury was out less than an hour.

The plaintiff alleged two shade trees were cut down on her property. The defendant admitted cutting down one tree, but claimed it was only a stub of a tree five feet high, which had been chopped once before.

In charging the jury, Judge Bishop said only a little less than one hour was required to reach the verdict. According to law, he would be three times the estimated value unless the damage resulted from ignorance of property boundaries. In the latter instance it would be only estimated value.

stated this morning that he has nothing to say in regard to the present candidate at large. Another source, however, reported that there is still a possibility that he will enter the race. In the event that a situation should arise calling for a compromise candidate, Mr. Murphy does not seem very anxious to continue in politics, however, because of his poor health, and the fact that he is improving in health very nicely at the present time.

Among those who took the initial step of securing their papers this morning were several well known citizens. Dr. Patrick J. Hagley, dentist, who served on the first school committee under the present charter, is a candidate for councilor at large. Michael J. Mahoney, well remembered by old time baseball fans and a salesman will also run for the council at large. Edward J. Mahoney, president of the Greek community and one of the leading merchants in the local colony, Edward J. McVey, the well known young lawyer, is a candidate in ward 8. The list follows:

Councilor at large—Patrick J. Hagley, 219 School street; Edward J. Mahoney, 259 Branch street; Michael J. Mahoney, 550 Westford street; Peter Tavoularis, 433 Broadway.

For Ward Councilor

Ward 5—William N. Fadden, 130 Salem street; Robert J. Laird, 6 Brown's court.

Ward 8—Arthur B. Chadwick, 21 Fairgrove avenue; Edward J. McVey, 619 Westford street; Orrin B. Rantlett, 2nd, 95 Saunders avenue.

School committee—Howard D. Smith, 66 Westford st.; Win. F. Conroy, 124 Barlett.

The following papers for councilor were filed this morning: Ward 4, Wm. R. McLaughlin, 16 Keene street; ward 5, Daniel P. Moriarty, 511 Lawrence street; ward 6, Joseph A. N. Christen, 159 Ludlum street.

PROPRIETOR IN COURT

Owner of House Where Booze Paraphernalia Was Found, Arraigned Today

Louis S. Sandier, proprietor of the Crescent street house in an "after room" of which the police liquor squad and Federal Officer Sheldon seized a 50 gallon still, 11 gallons of moonshine, 500 gallons of mash and other distillery material Sunday afternoon, was arraigned in district court today, after he had been arrested on a warrant last night. Pending an analysis of the liquor seized, the case was put over to November 12.

According to Sandier's information to the officers he rented the attic room to a man named "Brown," but the police thus far have been unable to locate any such person. This is a case where, in accordance to a recent ruling of Judge Enright, the owner of the house may be taken on a warrant charging illegal keeping if the supposed proprietor of the booze outfit cannot be discovered.

Sergeant Winn and his liquor squad last night searched another large still, the third one within a week. They raided the premises at 175 Broadway and confiscated a 50 gallon still, 20 gallons of moonshine, 500 gallons of mash, besides empty jugs, bottles and stoppers. No arrests have yet been made in connection with this seizure.

of mine can add to the glory of that achievement."

He then greeted Gen. Diaz, Gen. Jacques, and Admiral Beatty, paying a tribute to the achievements of each. "I am also honored," Gen. Pershing continued, "to speak for my friends and neighbors here in Missouri and to accord you a most sincere welcome to this grand old state, where I was born, and where I lived in boyhood. Mr. Le Marshall was of Missouri are especially pleased to be the first to formally welcome you to America."

The general then praised their work of the legion and spoke of the necessity of Americans "carrying on" in defense of the principles for which the allies fought four years.

"I most cordially greet you," said Gen. Pershing in an address delivered before the national convention of the legion at which the French commander was guest of honor.

"Not only recalling the affectionate relationship of other days, but also recognizing the patriotic unit that has grown out of these associations and the common purposes that exist to uphold more faithfully those ideals that lie at the foundation of this great republic of ours."

"Mr. Le Marshall, the American Legion is proudly honored by your presence here among us. We extend an equal welcome to that intrepid leader of Italy's victorious armies that crushed the military autocracy of Austria, Gen. Diaz, and to the representatives of the brave Belgian army whose courage defied the staggering blows of German militarism, Gen. Jacques, and to the great captain who commanded the British naval forces whose efficiency on the seas made the land victory possible, Admiral Lord Beatty. The people of America everywhere await to do you honor. Personally, I am extremely delighted to extend to you the greetings of the American armies that crossed the sea to fight beside you. I am also honored to speak for my friends and neighbors here in Missouri and accord you a most sincere welcome to this grand old state, where I was born and where I lived in boyhood."

Gen. Pershing then turned his attention to the legion and praised its campaigns for Americanism and kindred efforts. He urged the legion to continue its efforts to bring into being a military force "representative of the people which in any future war will escape the results of unpreparedness that you suffered."

He urged that the legion lend its efforts toward obtaining all possible relief for incapacitated veterans of the war. He predicted that great good would result from the coming conference on armament in Washington and that an understanding would be reached which would lessen the chances of war.

Paiva President of Paraguay

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 1.—Felix Paiva has assumed the office of president of the republic of Paraguay, following the deposition of President Gondra, against whom a revolutionary movement broke out on Saturday night, says a despatch to La Nación from Asuncion, President Gondra yesterday signed a decree delegating his powers to Senor Paiva, who was vice president. Former President Eduardo Schaerer, leader of the revolutionary movement which seized control at the capital of Paraguay will, it is understood, be minister of the interior in the new cabinet.

Navigation On Volga River Closed

RIGA, Nov. 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Navigation on the Volga river has been closed for the winter owing to the ice and low water. This will block steps taken to bring relief to starving villages far from railways or wagon roads that are passable. William N. Haskell, director of work in Russia for the American relief administration, has agreed to extend first aid to adults, and will furnish 30,000 supplementary rations for bed-ridden patients in the famine regions, it is announced by the Rosta News Agency.

RECRUITING INCREASED IN OCTOBER

Recruiting throughout the United States increased during the month of October as compared with previous months. Close to 1500 enlistment papers were received during October at the office of the Adjutant General in Washington, D. C., during the month of September. Although new enlistments have picked up this does not mean that recruiting has reached satisfactory proportions as there are yet many vacancies in the army, according to information given out today from the adjutant general's office.

During October it was found that Monday has proved to be the most productive day. The greatest number of recruits gained on any one day was 165 on Monday, Oct. 18.

The secretary of war has authorized a school for reserve officers at the Signal Corps school at Camp Vail, N. J., from Feb. 20, 1922, to May 20, 1922. The number of students at the school will be limited and will be chosen from the reserve officers of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth corps areas. Pay of their grade will be given all students, but no commutation of quarters, heat and light will be allowed. Officers who desire to take this course must apply by letter to the chief signal officer of the army (attention of personnel division.) Information as to rank held, age, education, occupation, connection with National Guard, Signal Corps work, what regiment connected with during war and other military information must be given in the letter of application.

Correspondence courses for reserve and national guard officers are being prepared by the chief of infantry, field artillery, coast artillery and cavalry and will be ready for use in all corps areas by the first of the new year. The courses will be under the direction of the corps area commanders. The objects of these schools is military training and education by correspondence methods of the officer personnel of either the reserve or national guard forces. Applications for this course must be submitted through the usual military channels.

Vacancies exist at the army music school at the Washington, D. C. barracks. Maj. E. L. Dwyer, commandant of the school, announces that he will hold vacancies for any good musician who desires to enroll and will go to the Washington barracks. There are three courses of instruction at present at the school and opportunities for promotion to non-commissioned ratings and warrant officers (band leaders) ranks are good for those who qualify. An announcement from the school states:

"EXTRA" PUBLISHED UNDER DIFFICULTIES

How a wideawake southern newspaper published an "Extra" under great difficulties with power for operating the linotype machine obtained from a motorcycle engine, is graphically told in a letter just received by The Sun from a Lowell man now residing in Florida.

A 10x16 poster printed on both sides with a "searched" display of heavy black type at the top of page 1, comes through the mails to The Sun from St. Petersburg, Fla. It is a rare copy of the St. Petersburg Times, a wideawake daily newspaper which managed to print an "Extra" under great difficulties on Wednesday morning, Oct. 26, when the Florida city was swept by one of the worst tropical storms in the history of the west coast. Property loss in Florida reached nearly $5,000,000 with several lives lost and great desolation resulting. St. Petersburg is one of the most popular fall and winter resorts in the south, and a great many New England people, including numerous Lowell men and women, go there every year to spend the cool season. Many Lowell citizens were in that vicinity when the storm burst over the city Oct. 26, and one of them has sent to The Sun an interesting account of the great tropical blast that caused so much havoc.

In writing to a Lowell friend, one resident said:

"We are all right, but it was awful to see the trees go down." The St. Petersburg Times "Storm Extra" was complete in every way so far as covering the news of the disaster was concerned. Not only did the newspapermen get out the little sheet under many difficulties, but the printers had a hard job getting paper enough out to run off a small edition. A little notice in one corner of the "Extra" on page 1, explains "How We Did It":

"This miniature issue of The Times was made possible through the efforts of every member of the newspaper's force and the assistance of Otis Beard, 142 Second street, north, who furnished a motorcycle which was used as power for the operation of the linotype machine."

The editor of The Times also inserted a little notice in heavy type that read:

"The Times has never missed an issue. This miniature edition was produced to give service."

Two advertisements were carried on the second page, but only as "fillers."

PLAN TO ACCOMMODATE EX-SERVICE MEN

Arrangements are being made to accommodate ex-servicemen in Lowell when the government clean-up squad comes here. The squad will be sent from the Boston office of the U. S. Veterans' bureau and will be in session in the Red Cross rooms for five days, beginning Nov. 7. Veterans appearing before the squad should bring all papers with them. The following men will be considered:

Ex-service men who through carelessness or because of the length of time since discharge have never filed claims for compensation.

Ex-service men who have filed claims for compensation and have been disallowed.

Ex-service men who wish to appeal their claims; who believe that their disability is greater than the present rating by the government.

Ex-service men who feel that they need immediate hospitalization.

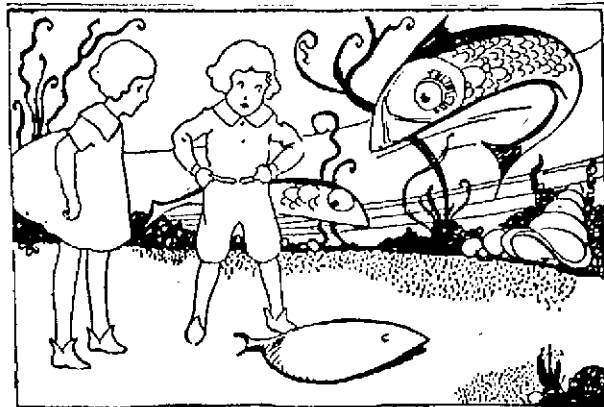

Ex-service men who wish to restate or convert their war risk insurance.

Ex-service men who have not applied for their state bonus. This group is also for the men whose claims are not properly adjusted on allotments.

Ex-service men who wish to file claims for vocational training.

Adventures of The Twins

ANOTHER BLOCKADE

"WHY DON'T YOU FIND ANOTHER PLACE TO REST YOURSELF?"

Well, sir, Nancy and Nick saw some queer people and queer happenings, and queer ever so many things while they were under the sea helping Cap'n Pennywinkle. But one of the queerest things of all was the manner in which Platty Plounder changed himself around. Cap'n Pennywinkle blew his whistle three times, the way he always did when he needed help. The Twins heard it and hurried to the Cross Roads at once.

"What's wrong?" cried Nancy.

"Oh, there's somebody blocking traffic again," answered the fairman crossly. "Platty Plounder is lying here just at the busiest place and he's more stubborn than Tub Terrapin ever was."

Nick went up quite close and gave the founder a poke. "What's wrong, Platty?" he asked.

Platty yawned, then he stretched, and blinked one eye. Perhaps he blinked both eyes, but if he did, no one could see it. He was lying on one side just as you do in bed, and one eye was under him, right down on the sandy bottom of the sea. After he had done all these things he condescended to answer.

"I'm tired—that's all."

"Well, then," said Nick, sternly, "why don't you find another place to rest yourself?"

"Yes," added Cap'n Pennywinkle, indignantly, "the idea of parking yourself right here where nobody can get past! If you don't move soon, I'll have to put up a 'detour' sign."

"I'm not taking up much room," yawned Platty, "and I just gotta lie here, honest. I'm like all little boys, I do most of my growing in bed, and just now I'm so tired that I feel I must be going to grow."

With that he settled himself down on the sand like a cement pavement.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Egan of 93 Nelson avenue a most delightful Halloween party was held. The guests, all attired in costumes, arrived about 8 o'clock and from then until midnight "fun" was the watchword. Dancing and refreshments were in order in the spacious barn, which was prettily decorated with autumn leaves. The following program was given: Songs, Mr. John Toy; fancy dances, Misses A. Egan and E. Sheehan; Master's Massey and O'Neill; sketch, Mrs. Harriet Sheehan; quartet, Messrs Egan, White, O'Neill and Roche; pony dance, Baby Leonard Sheehan; duets, Peggy O'Neill, Edward Egan and duets, Mrs. Egan, Alice Egan, Alice Sheehan and Emma Sheehan. The party closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

ATTACHMENT FILED

An attachment was filed yesterday at the registry of deeds by Edward F. Lamson vs. Thomas A. Wall. The amount is $4,000.

Nervous Dyspepsia

Nervous dyspepsia usually attacks those who have inherited a nervous constitution. It may, however, follow indisciplinable living, or result from a condition of nervous debility following acute diseases, such as fevers or the grip.

Sufferers from this trouble present very symptoms. Some lose flesh until they are extremely emaciated, complain of nervousness and headaches and great distress at the stomach. Others are healthy looking in every way and recognize the disease only by the pains and uneasiness after eating.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are used successfully in the treatment of nervous dyspepsia because they are a tonic for both the blood and the nerves. They tone up the stomach, strengthen the nerves, improve appetite and digestion, and good health results.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, post-paid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.—Adv.

SURPRISE PARTY

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Morrison, 118 Lincoln street, when his many friends and relatives presented him a gold chain and knife and many other useful gifts. The evening's entertainment included music and games. Refreshments were served. The party broke up at a late hour, wishing Mr. Morrison many happy returns. The French Players of the Dramatic Circle attended the party.

AT VESPER COUNTRY CLUB

The Halloween party held last night at the Vesper Country club was attended by 150 couples. There was dancing until 2 o'clock. The committee in charge was George Hunnels, Alva Weaver, George Robertson, Leroy Parment, Robert Wood, Edward Woodward, Ernest Scribner and Gardner Macartney.

NO PUBLIC OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

There will be no public demonstration here on Armistice Day other than the exercises planned by the American Legion. This was decided yesterday when it became known that the governor would not declare November 11 a holiday.

A few days ago Charles F. Langley came out in favor of some sort of a celebration. At that time he had spoken with several business men and all seemed to be enthusiastic over the prospect. All volunteered to lend whatever aid in the way of floats and the like possible.

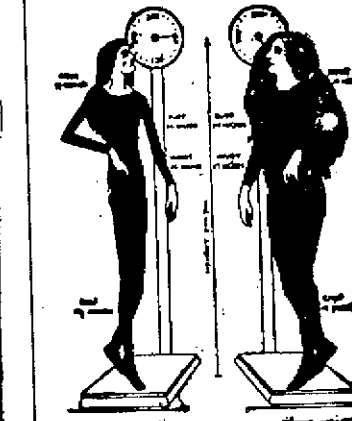

Since that time Mr. Langley has talked with a great many more and his plan gained favor rapidly. But when it was definitely decided by Gov. Cox there would be no holiday it was thought best to call off any plans.

There will be a big celebration on the next holiday to be observed here according to Mr. Langley and he will start to work early enough on the affair to insure a momentous demonstration.

BIG MOONSHINE RAID IN WILMINGTON DISTRICT

Extending his liquor activities to the Wilmington district, Harry G. Sheldon, federal prohibition enforcement officer, of Lowell, late yesterday afternoon, accompanied by the chief of police of Woburn and several patrolmen raided a house located at mid-distance between Wilmington and Woburn and seized one of the most complete distilling apparatus yet unearthed hereabouts. Two stills, one of 100 and the other of 75 gal. capacity, 35 gallons of moonshine, 1400 gallons of mash, 200 pounds of grain, 100 pounds of yeast, 23 pounds of raisins, seven iron galvanized tanks of 500 gallons capacity, one-half-ton of sugar, six large three-burner oil stoves, 21 empty five-gallon containers, besides many empty jugs, bottles and other small articles were seized. The place is said to be owned by one Andrea Melino, but the officers did not arrest him. Later they arrested two men who gave their names and addresses as Nathan Weiner of 62 Everett ave., Chelsea, and Tellico Corrado, of 353 Broadway, Waverly. They were arraigned in court today, charged with keeping and exposing intoxicating liquor unlawfully.

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calomel powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The calomel powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

A DANGEROUS SCHEME

There is a hot fight in the United States senate over the American valuation plan provided for in the Fordney tariff bill, recently passed by the house of representatives.

Mr. Fordney, author of the bill, is strongly in favor of this feature, which he claims is necessary to protect the people of this country against the fabrics made by cheap labor of foreign nations.

That plan is quite plausible, of course, but the opponents of the plan offer very strong arguments against it. They claim that by assessing ad valorem duties, not on previous tariff acts, but upon the wholesale selling price, at which similar domestic merchandise is sold in the principal markets of the United States, our import business and thereby, our export business also, will be destroyed, or at least seriously interfered with, to the great detriment of all our people and the delay of prosperity.

This plan would give foreign products a fictitious value which would be most advantageous to the nations in which the cost of production is lowest. For example, if the cost of production in Japan is but 25 per cent. of the American cost, the products of that nation would jump in value 75 per cent. in American ports. In France and England the cost of production might be 50 per cent. of what it is in this country. Hence imports from these nations would be advanced in value only 25 per cent. Now would a tariff duty of 25 per cent. operate in such cases? The evident injustice, even to importers, is apparent.

This scheme seems to be one of those ideas of high protection gone mad, that occasionally comes out from the republican camp of the old school of Dingley, McKinley, Penrose, Fordney and Co.

The sound basis of tariff protection against foreign imports would impose a duty sufficient to cover the difference in cost of production between this country and that of the importing nations. With such a duty the American manufacturers would always be able to take care of themselves. One of the main reasons put forward for adopting the American plan of valuation is, that the foreign standards of exchange are so demoralized that it would be difficult to establish a uniform standard of value. Under the American valuation plan it might be equally difficult to get a fixed standard of value, for the reason that the price of a given commodity in New York may differ very materially from the price of that commodity in Chicago, San Francisco or New Orleans. Furthermore, the American valuation plan would be a total failure as a revenue producer for the reason that it would cut down our imports to an unprecedented degree while at the same time encouraging monopolies and speculative combines to put up the price of their products as high as they pleased. When foreign competition is largely shut out, the American consumer is always fleeced by unscrupulous concerns that secure a monopoly of certain necessities of life. Against any such possibility the American people should be amply protected and, therefore, in our opinion the American plan of valuation should be rejected.

MARSHAL FOCH

The entire country pays homage to Marshal Foch, not only on account of his genius as a military tactician, but because of his genial nature, his gentlemanly instincts, and particularly on account of his great love for the United States.

It will be remembered that before Marshal Foch was put in command of the allied armies, each of the nations was maintaining a separate war against the central powers. There was no perfect co-operation against the enemy. Each was hitting a blow here and another there, wherever they saw an opportunity.

Once Gen. Foch was put in command, all that stopped and the entire forces of the allies together with those of the United States, were formed into one great army for the purpose of executing a circling movement that would capture or dislodge the enemy.

Gen. Foch mapped out the plan of campaign which was to be carried out for the defeat of Germany and the other powers fighting on her side. There was perfect co-ordination by all the allied armies in forming a great wall of steel to converge upon the enemy. There was no longer an English or a French or an American campaign, as the forces of these countries were all engaged in carrying out one great tactical movement, to accomplish the enemy's defeat. The plan was, to find the weakest point in the enemy's lines and there strike a heavy blow. It was also part of the scheme to destroy the strategic points of the enemy's lines and for this purpose, the American forces were selected and carried out the task with admirable execution and precision, although not without heavy loss.

Thus following the plans of Marshal Foch, the war was speedily brought to an end. But for the co-ordination which he insisted upon, the different units might have continued their independent movements without attaining the final victory that came from united action under one direction. Foch, through the genius of Marshal Foch, the greatest military tactician of the age, and yet one of the most humane and cultured gentlemen.

COMMUNISTIC THREATS

The question persists as to how we should deal with the communists who are threatening the United States. In an effort to interfere with the trial of Sacco and Vanzetti, this action will undoubtedly lead to more riotous methods in dealing with the radicals in this country. Not only will deportation be favored, but it is quite certain that all radical literature will be barred from the mails. It is necessary that the movement will have two distinct phases, one, educational, and the other, restrictive, and that both should be definitely settled upon without undue delay.

Speaking of anarchists, President Roosevelt said that those who write, publish or circulate anarchist articles stand on the level of those who use the mails for distributing poison for the purpose of murder; and convictions have been obtained when the mails have been thus used for the distribution of poison. No laws should require the postmaster-general to become an accessory to murder by circulating anarchist literature. It is quite certain that the postoffice, in view of the recent attacks, will carry out the policy thus laid down by the former president.

The attempt to interfere with the administration of justice simply links the two prisoners mentioned with the communist element and it will naturally have the effect of creating prejudice against them rather than causing sympathy for them. The course of justice cannot be turned aside because of any threat even from the anarchists who have already given indication of their earnestness by the use of the bomb against the lives of American officials.

PEOPLE TO A SQUARE MILE

Census computations by the experts at Washington indicate that the density of population in the United States has increased at the rate of ten per square mile during the last twenty years. In 1900 we had 25.6 to each square mile; and last year we had 35.5. It is quite remarkable that while some of the eastern states have a population almost as crowded as might be found in England or Belgium, yet in eleven western states it is less than ten to the square mile; and in several of these the number per mile is less than five, and in Nebraska less than one per mile.

Rhode Island leads in the highest number per square mile with 565.4; and the other states next in order are: Massachusetts, 479.2; New Jersey 420; Connecticut 286.4; New York 273.3; Pennsylvania 194.5; Maryland, 145.3; Ohio 141.4; Illinois 115.7. The twelve states with a low number per square mile are: Nebraska 16.9; North Dakota 9.2; Colorado 9.1; South Dakota 8.2; Oregon 8.2; Utah 5.5; Idaho 5.2; Montana 4.8; Arizona 2.9; New Mexico 2.0; Wyoming 2.0; Nevada 1.1.

The vast state of Texas has 17.5 persons to the square mile. New England as a whole has 119.4 to the mile, while Great Britain has 481.9; Japan 375; Germany 332; Italy 326.5; Roumania 160; Ireland 131.

The figures given in reference to the several states show the effect of permitting immigrants to settle where they please, thus crowding the eastern cities while the western are but sparsely settled.

One of the problems of the future will be to distribute the immigrants where they are most needed instead of letting them settle in the factory cities, which are already overcrowded.

RAILROADS LOSE

California fruit growers for the last two years were unable to ship their crops to the east by rail because the market price would not be sufficient to pay the high freight rates. They are now planning to ship by boat through the Panama canal, finding that this route will be cheaper than by rail. Shipments will total 2,000,000 boxes of fruit a year, which indicates that the railroads are bound to lose an important item of business; and it is likely to be lost for good. This indicates the absurdity of keeping freight rates at a prohibitive figure. It is not surprising that the railroads find their business slipping away from them. They think chiefly of how they will pay dividends instead of how they will serve the public.

WARD REPRESENTATION

Ward representation in the city council will result in the selection of good men for the reason that the voters in each of the wards know their candidates personally and can vote intelligently for the men who are most likely to give the city the benefit of business experience.

There are numerous candidates from each of the wards and as a result, the voters will have to select one from a considerable number in each case. In doing this, it is necessary that they consider only the essential qualities of honesty and capacity for service. Let it be remembered that the vote cast for a candidate who has no chance of election might as well not be cast at all. It is simply wasted. Let your votes count among the leaders where they will help to decide contests.

Sold business men are beginning to enter the field as candidates for the city council. With a few more, the voters will have no excuse for not having a fair proportion of such men in next year's city council.

There is a demand for an agricultural fair in Lowell or immediate vicinity, and the Driving Club's plans should be supported by all who want to aid the city's progress. The fair at Brockton has done much to advertise and benefit that city.

Mr. Hennepin discovered coal in 1609 near the present site of Ottawa, Ill., and this appears to be the first record of the finding of coal in America, but it was not mined until nearly a century and a half later.

An Intellectual Bridge

"Don't you consider bridge an intellectual game?" asked Miss Pepper. "Too intellectual," replied Miss Cayenne. "After reading the books of instruction I haven't the courage to attempt it."

Had Good Memory

A stranger spoke to Jim Jones in the bar of the Gossard and Gander. "Seventeen years ago," he said, "I landed in this town and you told me that if ever I was in need you would willingly lend me a shilling." Vision of a substantial reward for his former kindness floated before the eyes of Jim Jones. "Well," he said, shaking with excitement and expectation, "Are you still generous?" asked the stranger.

Out of the Ordinary

George W. Weaver, Center County, Bellefonte, Penn., enjoys the distinction of having a great-grandchild who is older than his youngest daughter, and Weaver himself is only 63 years of age. He has been married twice and is the father of 15 children, 13 of whom are living. His oldest grandchild, married Edward Ashby of Liberty township. Their oldest son is 13 years old, and older than Mr. Weaver's youngest daughter. By his second marriage, who is great aunt to the lad who was born before her.

But She Was Mad

Little Billy, being at the seaside was taken ill and confined to his bed for a day. A timid caller came to inquire, a small boy unknown at the house, evidently some playmate of the child. Little Billy's mother was touched, praised the caller, kissed him for his thoughtful attention, and gave him chocolate. Billy's playmate then backed nervously down the steps, gathering courage as he went for a final inquiry: "If Billy dies," he said, "when safely on the pavement, can I have his scooter?"

Well Trained Husband

The time was Saturday, 5.30 p. m., the place a local movie house; the girl a large, robust, middle-aged woman. Rushing up to one of the ushers in the foyer, she excitedly cried: "Say, boy, I left my husband in here while I went shopping. Our car leaves in five minutes and he ain't out here. Don't you want to buy a ticket; how can I get him?"

"I would love to," replied the usher, "but if you describe him perhaps I can find him." The woman apparently did not hear a word he said. "Do you care if I whistle for him?" she asked. Thinking she was only joking, he said: "Go to it." Immediately a shrill and wild whistle startled the quiet audience. A meek little man sitting well toward the front jumped as though shot, bolted up the aisle, appeared in the foyer, and meekly ran in the wake of the robust woman, who was rapidly making tracks for the suburban station.

Everybody's Doing It

I think I'll take out nomination papers. It seems to be the only thing to do. For nearly all my friends are getting busy.

To run for office with the "parvenu."

I've talked it over with my wife and partner. They say I'm good as any one in town!

They cannot see why I might not be lucky. And win with ease some municipal crown.

I've figured out the possibilities. Of getting in the neck the voters' knife.

But let it not be said I did not venture to make the supreme effort of my life!

I feel that if the voters really need me I can be ready any time they say. For jobs are few and, really, life is irksome.

Without a berth where you can get your pay.

So now, dear voters, I beg your attention. In this campaign just starting on its way.

If you will sign my nomination papers, I will remember you on Christmas Day!

Of course if it should happen that the primary is picked out another man of sterling worth.

Remember that I fought an honest battle. And nevermore shall leave my humble heart.

—CARL PICKENS.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Theatrical habits who remember Mark Kent when he first started out to be an actor right here in Lowell some 30 years ago, will be glad to learn that he is now playing an important part in a Boston stock company, and pleasing everybody with his work. He is a character actor of ability and of the ripest art of the older school, tempered by the modernism of the present day. The Man About Town learns that Mr. Kent still visits Lowell and has a warm spot in his heart for this city and its inhabitants. He has more than once said that his real start began right here in Lowell, and that he owes much of his earlier success to the great support he received from Lowell theatregoers. I learn that Kent is called "a man of many parts." It seems that he has appeared in 653 plays, interpreted 833 characters in 100 dramatic engagements in every town of importance from Maine to the Mississippi river.

The famous De Witt Clinton train which was exhibited at the Brockton fair this year naturally attracted a great deal of attention. A little history of the brochure variety has been compiled and issued in four-page form, giving an interesting account of America's most famous train. The first passenger in the state of New York to ride on a train drawn by a steam locomotive were hauled by the De Witt Clinton engine on August 9, 1831, over the Mohawk & Hudson railroad, the original unit of the New York Central system. The first trip of the locomotive was made on July 30, 1831, and on August 3 it made the trip from Albany to Schenectady, a distance of 17 miles, in one hour and 45 minutes. The maximum speed attained on the trip when the De Witt Clinton carried its first passengers was 20 miles an hour.

A few days ago in this column I called attention to the unsafe condition of parts of the Middlesex street sidewalks. I warned against possible injury and suits which might follow against the city owing to numerous holes in the walk. Yesterday upon walking toward the station I was gratified to notice that the holes had been patched with a covering of tar. While the walk doesn't look as neat as it might the chances for accidents such as I mentioned have been greatly diminished. It is a source of satisfaction to see the condition so quickly corrected after attention had been called to it. Certainly it demonstrates that the department in charge of that work is right on the job and anxious to function to its ability.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem NOISES

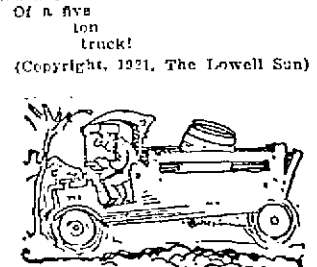

I hear the banging
Of the wagon wheels,
Or the trolley clanging,
While its airbrake squeals;
But I grow quite dither
And I lose my pluck
At the bird-like twitter
Of a five
ton
truck!

With an Anglo-Saxon
Fortitude, I smile
When a strident Klaxon
Shrieks in raucous style;
But there's one car-spitter
Makes me jump and duck—
It's the bird-like twitter
Of a five
ton
truck!

It is fear-inspiring
When its voice is heard,
Like the giant thrashing
Of a monster bird;
Though I'm not a quitter
I get panic-struck
At the sharp twit-titter
Of a five
ton
truck!

I can stand the clamor
And the dreadful din
When the loud air-hammer
Drives the rivets in;
For the city's clatter,
Though it's harsh, maybe,
Doesn't really bother
Very much to me;
But my nerves go flitter
And I curse my luck
And my two eyes glitter
I'm a half-mad critter
Seeking stones to chuck
When I hear the twit-titter
Of a five
ton
truck!

WITNESSES TELL OF MISS RAPPE'S EARLY LIFE

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Witnesses who knew Virginia Rappe, film actress who died following a party given by Roscoe Arbuckle, in a San Francisco hotel and which resulted in his being held on charges of manslaughter, testified yesterday before representatives of the state of California and the defense, relating their knowledge of the girl during her career in Chicago.

The witnesses were asked to prepare interrogatory specified by the trial judge in San Francisco.

Dr. Maurice H. Rosenburg, the first witness, testified that in 1913, Miss Rappe visited his office for an examination. He told the investigators that Miss Rappe was suffering from chronic cystitis.

Miss Josephine Roth, who gave her occupation as midwife, also testified, and her testimony was corroborated by Miss Virginia Warren, a nurse, who said she was Mrs. Roth's assistant.

The hearing then adjourned and Attorney C. H. Brennan, who was present in behalf of the defense, departed for New York, where further depositions will be taken.

Gems of Empress Josephine For Sale

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The diamond and emerald earrings given by Napoleon to Empress Josephine, were displayed for sale today by a Fifth avenue jeweler. Valued at more than $100,000, the gems are the only pieces of the empress' rich collection that remain intact. Josephine's jewels came into possession of the Beauharnais family and were handed down to a Beauharnais, now a Russian grand duke. In financial stress, he sold them to a Paris branch of the New York jewel house.

For Utmost Limitation of Armaments

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—The utmost possible limitation of natural armaments immediately "and future disarmament except such as may be needed for police protection," were advocated in a petition forwarded today to the American commissioners to the limitation of armaments conference from the headquarters here of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. The signers included 51 denominational trustees and 37 state presidents of the society.

The THOR Is Never Late —Never Disappoints

Laundresses all have human failings—often they are late; frequently they fail to show up. Which is only one advantage of the Thor Electric Washer—it is on the job when you are—early or late, as you wish. It never disappoints.

Makes the Maid Happy

With the Thor Electric Washer you can easily do the family washing yourself in an hour or so. If you have a maid or laundress, however, you'll find them far more contented and loyal if they merely have to supervise the use of the Electric Washer in place of actually toiling over the washboard. Free demonstration.

LOTS OF HARMLESS FUN ON HALLOWEEN

Lowell young folks—and a few not so young—celebrated the Halloween festival last night, with parades through the streets in all sections of the city, and the usual merry-making. The police were given but little trouble, there being no disorder worth mentioning and no arrests made for hoodlumism.

The social end of the observance was not so adequate as in other years, when hotels and restaurants used to be crowded and "open house" the rule everywhere. Local dance halls were well filled last night, but in the restaurants Halloween was not observed as it used to be.

Several accidents occurred, one of them of a serious nature. Little Geo. T. Walters of 15 Third street, while playing with several companions, was knocked down by an automobile driven by Noel E. Ladebauche, of 229 Christian street, and badly injured. At St. John's hospital it was said that he might have a fractured skull. No serious destruction of property was reported by the police. In Centralville several street lights were turned out, and shortly after 8 o'clock there was a false fire alarm from box 617, corner of Christian and Tenth streets. A short time before that the department was called out needlessly when box 414, corner of Boston road and Fruit street, was rung in.

The Upper Highlands and Pawtucketville reported minor troubles, urchins getting too noisy and trespassing on neighborhood property.

EMIL TELMANYI AT WOMEN'S CLUB

Although Ernst Dohnanyi, composer, pianist, scheduled for yesterday at the Middlesex Women's club, has postponed his American visit, thus disappointing those who arranged the program for the season, the club was happily able to secure a very capable artist, Emil Telmányi, violinist, to fill the date. This talented virtuoso has studied with the best masters in Europe, and judged by his splendid rendition of the brilliant but difficult program which he essayed yesterday, he is destined to win considerable renown among American music lovers before he returns to his native Hungary.

The accompanist, Sandor Vas, who is said to have been with Telmányi throughout his career as a soloist, showed marked ability at the piano. Although his accompaniments were brilliant and won the audience's admiration, he managed to keep well in the background, never allowing the piano's tone to rise to such an extent as to encroach on the prerogative of the solo instrument. The program follows:

Symphonic Espagnole Lalo
Allegro con troppo
Scherzando
Andante
Rondo
Rondeau Brillante, B Minor, Schubert
Introduction, Rondo Capriccioso, Saint-Saens
(a) Valse Caprice Wienlawski
(b) Tango Kodaly

HALLOWEEN PARTY AT CHILDREN'S HOME

A Halloween program under the direction of the matron, Ellen O'Leary, gave a great deal of enjoyment to the children at the Children's Home in Bosford square last evening. Jack o'lanterns, corn stalks, and a variety of colored streamers decorated the walls. The older boys had real pumpkins with the weird faces lighted with candles, while most of the small or children were dressed in Halloween costumes. The children certainly enjoyed themselves playing the program of Halloween games offered, and voted it one of the best times ever held at the home. Refreshments were served and the affair broke up with the children uttering a fervent prayer of thanks for the evening's festivities.

MUST NOT SMOKE IN STREET CARS

Officials of the Bay State system of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. have started a campaign against patrons who smoke in many cars on the various divisions. The habit has become so frequent of late, officials say, that warnings have been posted in all cars reading as follows:

"Men who have any respect for women will not smoke in this car." The printed notice appears in the center racks of all cars on the Bay State system. Manager Thomas Lee informed The Sun today that since the appearance of newspaper articles last week about "no smoking" in closed cars, there has been a noticeable improvement in conditions, and women especially have expressed appreciation of what the railroad is trying to do.

MISS FELDMAN HONORED

Miss Mae Feldman, well known young lady in local business circles, was the guest of honor at a birthday party given her by her brother, George, and sister, Miss Sarah, at their home, 57 Ware street, Sunday evening. There were more than 75 relatives and friends present, coming from this city, Boston, Lynn, Revere, Dorchester and New York, and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Miss Feldman was the recipient of many beautiful gifts besides many messages of good wishes. Among them were two congratulatory telegrams from relatives in St. Louis, Mo. Singing and dancing were enjoyed besides the playing of games. Refreshments were served. Miss Rose Feldman, of Boston, contributed a number of vocal and piano selections.

OFFICERS ELECTED

At a recent meeting of the Lowell Society of Industrial Sciences the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: D. S. Walton, president; L. K. Brown, vice president; J. M. Normandy, secretary; and W. E. Lasky, treasurer. The executive committee is made up of men representing the various concerns which have members in the society as follows: John McClellan of the Bay State Cotton Corporation; Percy Walsh of the Bleachery; George Fendegast of the U. S. Cardridge Co.; William Bowers of the Gillespie-Ryan Corporation; Howard Alexander of the Lanson Co.; Ray Bennett of the Massachusetts Cotton Mills; H. C. Jones, Sr., of the Saco-Lowell shops and E. A. Pearson of the Whitall Mfg. Co. The membership committee is composed of H. D. Manuelli, H. C. Jones, Jr., and A. Nelson Luther.

MASTICATION

Dr. Bishop Says People Eat Too Rapidly

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP

Whether it be from lack of hard foods, requiring prolonged chewing, or from the nervous hurry of modern life, or from other causes, it is undoubtedly a fact that most people in America eat too rapidly. The correction of this habit will go far toward reforming an individual's diet in every way.

Thorough mastication means chewing up to the point of involuntary swallowing. It does not mean forcibly holding the food in the mouth counting the chews, or otherwise making a bore of eating. It merely means giving up the habit of forcing food down, and applies to all foods, even to liquid foods, which should be sipped.

The consequences and evils of insufficient mastication are many, and may be enumerated as follows:

Insufficient use of the teeth and jaws and hence dental decay as well as other and worse dental evils; insufficient saliva mixed with the food and hence imperfect digestion of the starchy substances; insufficient subdivision of food by mastication and hence slow digestion; the failure of the taste nerves to telegraph ahead, as it were, to the stomach and other digestive organs an intimation of the kind and amount of digestive juices required and hence indigestion; the overreasoning of food to make it digestible even when bolted and hence overeating and irritation of the mucous lining; the excessive use of meat and eggs and like foods, which can be eaten rapidly with relative impunity, and the corresponding neglect of other foods which require mastication, like bread, grains, vegetables and salads, and hence intestinal poisoning.

The habit of insufficient mastication is subtle, because it has become "second nature" with most of us. To free ourselves of it we must first of all allow plenty of time for our meals and rid our minds of the thought of hurry.

A boy's school, in which the principal is endeavoring to fight the habit of foodbolting, has wisely ordained that no boy may leave the dining-room until a certain hour, even if he has finished eating long before. In this way the boy soon learns that there is nothing to be gained by fast eating, and, in fact, that the pleasantest way of spending the meal-time is to prolong the relish of the food. It would be well if all of us would adopt a similar rule for ourselves.

Mr. Gladstone did something of the sort and was noted for the slow mastication of his food. Lately Mr. Horace Fletcher set such a rule for himself, and revived the interest of the public in the subject.

At first we must give some conscientious attention to our efforts to reform; but if we will merely attend carefully to the first three mouthfuls of a meal, the slow pace can often be established for the rest of the meal without further thought.

FOR-GET-ME-NOT CLUB

Friday night the For-Get-Me-Not club gave a pretty and an enjoyable Halloween party at the home of Miss Helen Rule, 154 Eleventh street. Black and yellow streamers, several black cats and golden pumpkins adorned the MOTHER!

Open Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Adv.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrup, and more about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

War's Aerial Foes Compete in Fastest Race

By N.E.A. Service
OMAHA, Nov. 1.—Entries for the world's fastest racing event, the Pulitzer trophy air race, to take place in Omaha, Nov. 3, have been closed.

It will be the greatest race of its kind in the history of the country, with cash prizes of $3000, $2000 and $1000 and a handsome silver trophy of the symbol of aviation holding in uplifted hands an airplane.

The Pulitzer race is a free-for-all by high powered speed planes, little more than winged motors, over a distance of 150 miles. The landing field was cleared and equipped at a cost of $52,000.

Next in interest to the Pulitzer race is the Latham trophy race for commercial efficiency, to be staged at the same meet. A trophy of silver and gold, standing four feet high, is offered by Latham, who introduced the all-metal monoplane.

Former Foes Race
This air congress will bring a reunion of the famous Lafayette escalade, an organization including all American fliers who participated in the world war. Many other aviators of America and Europe also will compete, among them those who, a few years ago, were fighting each other in the skies over France.

Capt. C. C. Mosley of Detroit who won last year's race, will not be an entry. Lieut. Col. H. E. Hartney, secretary of the American Aero club, who won second place in last year's event, has entered, however. Other of the well known aces entered are: Capt. J. A. McCready, Florio, Manor, Wrightsman, S. E. Cox and Valentine Gephart.

LOWELL HIGH IN PRACTICE SESSION

Coach Eddie Cawley went over the game against B. C. high Saturday and pointed out every error that Lowell had committed, at the practice session of the local squad at Spalding park yesterday afternoon. There is no doubt in Eddie's mind that the Lowell team will be able to play and lead the team, the score of the game would have been different.

The Lowell players did not seem to work and it was not until H. C. high had scored that the team found itself. For the remainder of the game B. C. was outclassed.

The most encouraging feature of the game to Coach Cawley was the stellar playing of "Long John" McManmon at guard. John was a beacon on the defense and his clear, hard tackling made the Boston backs clear of his position. On the offense he made gaping holes for his backs to plough through. Coach Cawley was also very much pleased with the work of Long's husky sub tackle. He entered the game in the second half and to more gains were registered through the tackle than he played.

Although somewhat downcast over Saturday's defeat, the team is by no means discouraged and is determined to show real football in the remaining games.

MANAGER MCGRAW TO "STAND PAT"

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Manager McGraw, well satisfied with the makeup of his world's baseball championship team, said last night before leaving for a southern winter vacation, that he would keep the organization intact for 1922.

"That team doesn't need any strengthening," he said.

The Giants' leader said he was especially well satisfied with the way the pitching staff had found itself in the latter part of the season and expected greater strength next season through the work of Pat Shea and Bill Ryan, youthful members of the hurling staff.

McGraw said that if Heinie Groh were thrown on the market again the Giants would make a good bid for him, although Heinie was no longer of vital concern to the New York club.

BIG DEMAND FOR HARVARD TICKETS

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 1.—Tickets for the Harvard-Yale football game in the Stadium November 13 have been over subscribed by 10,000. For the 50,000 seats available, applications number 50,000. The 25,000 seats sought by Yale men will be pared down 3500. Approximately 6000 Harvard applications also will be cut. Under the system of distribution, some non-graduates of the universities will get no seats, others will be held to one seat each instead of the pair applied for.

MISS LETCH SAILS NOVEMBER 15
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Miss Cecil Letch, British, French and Canadian women's golf champion, left today for Canada, where she will spend a few days with friends before returning to board a ship for home on November 15.

Miss Letch said she was certain to make the trip to America again next summer in quest of the title which she failed to gain this year at Holly-wood, N. J.

WANAMAKER TO COACH YALE
BOSTON, Nov. 1.—The appointment of Clarence Wanamaker, coach of the Dartmouth hockey team last year, as the Yale varsity coach for this season was reported here today. The Yale hockey team this year will have its headquarters in an artificial rink at New Haven and, with Charles O'Hearn, the football quarterback and star of the Yale freshman hockey team of last fall available, a good team is looked for by Blue ice enthusiasts.

BOXING

With seven of the eight performers on his Thursday night card being Lowell boys, Manager Dodge of the Moody club has arranged a program that should prove popular in all sections of the city. That is his intention in signing up his talent. He is trying to satisfy the demands and wishes of all who attend his shows, and that his policy is being appreciated, particularly this week, is indicated by the big demand for reservations reaching the club headquarters at 243 Central street.

Jack Perry, who meets Johnny Avila in the main event of ten rounds is the only out-of-town man on the program. And at that this fellow has been in this vicinity almost long enough to claim a residence here. He has been stopping out at Wamsic with Martin Flaherty, training for future bouts, and has visited Lowell on many occasions. He counts a number of friends here and many of them will be on hand to cheer him on to victory.

Avila has been training diligently for the past three weeks, for he realizes the importance of getting away to a good start in his season's debut. He has taken off considerable superfluous flesh and is now as hard as nails. He has boxed with big and small men, and all those who have seen him in action aver that he will give Perry the surprise of his life.

Benny Nelson of the C. M. A. C. and Billy Murphy of the A.C. are rounding into form for their battle, the semi final scheduled for eight rounds. There is unusual interest in this mill, due principally to the word combat going on between the pair for several weeks.

The supporters of both are confident of the outcome.

UP ON HIS TOES

Punters have stance just as putters do. There's no much science in position in football as there is in golf. Look at John Clark of the University of Virginia eleven. He punts from 50 to 70 yards because he gets right up on his toes and swings his leg like a pendulum.

W. AND J. TEAM FINDS IT HAS PRAYING COACH

By N.E.A. Service
WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 1.—"Never since I have been coaching at football have I sent a team on the gridiron without praying that my men would come out victorious and that they would not be hurt in the contest."

That was the way Earle "Greasy" Neale, former major league outfielder, started a recent remarkable speech to the undergraduate body at Washington and Jefferson.

COACH NEALE

Neale said that he was praying that the W. and J. team would win their next game and also that they would go through the season without defeat.

"I believe that my prayers have been answered somewhat so far this season as none of my players has been hurt to speak of and we have come off the field a winner in every game."

No one knew Neale was a praying coach until he delivered his remarkable speech. He received a remarkable ovation.

That Neale has a strong eleven this season can be seen from the showing in five games in which the Presidents have rolled up 122 points and have had but 7 points scored on them. The scores of the first five games: W. and J. 14, Bethany 0; W. and J. 28, Rucknell 0; W. and J. 34, W. Virginia Wesleyan 0; W. and J. 12, Carnegie Tech 0; W. and J. 14, Lehigh 7.

Neale has many veterans from last year, but he has developed several new stars who eventually will take their place.

The game that Neale and every follower of Washington and Jefferson wants to win is the game with Pittsburg on Nov. 12 and Neale is now bringing along his team for that battle with Glenn Warner's powerful squad.

A move is being inaugurated here to hold an amateur boxing show on December 1. Manager Dodge of the Moody club will conduct the bouts, and already he is receiving applications for registration blanks. The meet will be open to all amateurs, with the principals wearing soft bandages and boxing four two minute rounds. Amateur bouts, when the performers are well matched, provide a rare treat for the spectators. Also it serves as a preliminary school for the development of professional stars.

RED SOX DRAFT "ZIP" SLOAN
BOSTON, Nov. 1.—The drafting by the Red Sox of Thomas J. "Zip" Sloan, Jr., of Pittsburgh, pitcher last season for the Hartford club of the Eastern league, became known here today. Sloan, a six footer, won as many games as he lost with a second division club and was said to have dropped more one-run games than any pitcher in the league.

LOWELL LANDS GAME

Woonsocket Defeated 5 to 1 in Good Contest—Conley Stars at Goal

In a well played game of polo the Lowell team last night defeated the Woonsocket club before a good sized and appreciative crowd at the Crescent rink. The score was 5 to 1.

The Lowell club entered the rink determined to chase the jinx that had been trailing them for the past week, and cut loose an impressive attack that could have but one outcome, Davies, Alexander and Quigley went on the offensive at the outset and realizing former experiences, never relaxed their endeavors until the final sound of the horn.

Lowell's sharpshooters were certainly put to a severe test, as Muesie Conley, goal tend for the visitors, was in great form, and he gave a spectacular exhibition in front of the cage. Lowell's artillery men hammered 38 at the good looking cage guardian, and he missed but nine of the onslaught.

Woonsocket got the jump after a little more than five minutes of play, while the aggressive and industrious Ted Williams hammered one in. But this lone register represented the visitor's scoring activities of the evening. Ted worked hard for the remainder of the game, so did his youthful pal on the rushing, Tom Weil, but Lowell's defense men were very much on the job and held the invaders at bay.

After the opening goal, Alexander and Davies got the ball rolling to desire and three goals were made, two by Alex and the other by Davies. Thus the first session ended, 3 to 1. In the second period, both camps worked hard and turned in some high class polo, but the rival goal tenders were in a predicament. In the final stanza more good polo was witnessed, but two goals, one by Alexander and one by Davies, concluded the scoring for the night. The lineup and summary:

POLO NOTES
Worcester will play here Friday night.

Last night's crowd saw that as good an exhibition of goal tending as has ever been witnessed on the local surface. Muesie Conley's performance in making 51 stops, was a treat to look upon, while Bill Blount, though not called upon to face such a consistent attack, took good care of all the drives that came his way, only missing one during the entire game.

Alexander and Davies are rounding into great form, and with Quigley in his stride and expertly directing and leading the specialists, Lowell's chances of getting up there with the leaders look much brighter.

Portland is still waiting for Barney Doherty to report. He certainly is needed and would greatly improve the defensive department of the Maine entry.

On the Other Hand—

BY GROVE

THE business of trying to dope out the collegiate football championship of the country is like fooling around with the income tax. Nobody ever gets it right. Or if a person does, he doesn't know it!

It's always done on this kind of a basis: "Well, Oshkosh beat Windy Corners 7 to 0 and Windy Corners shamed Mugwump 14 to 10 and Mugwump swamped Squeedunk 102 to 0, but on the other hand Squeedunk ran up a 20 to 0 score on Oshkosh while Mugwump beat 'em 13 to 7. Whoosis went through the season undefeated on the coast, but Windy Corners was the only intersectional game Whoosis played, so that Whoosis' standing against eastern leaders must be gauged by its 13 to 0 victory over this second-rater. All in all, the collegiate championship this season is rather up in the air."

Let's be done with this confused system. Let's bring order out of chaos.

Eliminate this booking of intersectional games early in the season. Let the school teams of each district fight it out among themselves early in the season for the championship of that district, and then let intersectional games be permitted to be booked only among these district champions.

By this method of elimination games, the football title of the country will be worked out to a logical conclusion and fans will get the benefit of real "world series" football.

The quarter called the signals loud,
But his mind was off the game,
For the number he ran, was none other than
The phone of the fullback's dame.

Some of these recent fights accomplished something, anyhow. The boxers and fans have a closer understanding.

Above the fireplace used to hang
"My Mother," done by Whistler,
But now my dad has changed it for
An action view of Sisler.

We had a "Home, Sweet Home" sign, too,
That looked down o'er the table,
But he's ditched that as well so he Could hang a fighter's stable.

Jack Dempsey has replaced "The Storm,"
"The Fair" gave way to Uhlans;
My dad's a bug—a Bug of Bugs—
And, believe me, I'm not foolin'.

First prohibition! And now they're trying to take the kick out of boxing.

It won't be long before the Shuberts, Keiths and the rest will be asking waivers on some of their diamond vaudeville stars.

Gene Delmont, who has fought Leonard, Kilbane, Dundee and others of the talent, is a member of a vaudeville team, and trains for his fights on the stage. What you might call both a knockout and a knockerout, wot?

Our idea of a good time: to see the scrap for space on the electric sign out front if Jack Dempsey and Babe Ruth should meet on the vaudeville circuit.

BOWLING

The various teams of the Waterhead mill bowling league rolled on Kiltredge's alleys last night with the following result:

To Select Successor To Chairman White
ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Indications this morning were that a successor to George White, as chairman of the democratic national committee, might be agreed upon by the various party elements before the committee meets at noon. Breckinridge Long of Missouri and Washington, D. C., former third assistant secretary of state, was said to be acceptable but his selection is contingent upon the resignation of Edward F. Goltz, committeeman from Missouri.

Strike In Protest Against Injunction
ATHENS, Nov. 1.—Between 275 and 300 union miners employed at Mine No. 2 60f the New York Coal Co., at Floodwood, this county, went on strike this morning as a protest against the check-off injunction issued yesterday by Judge Anderson in federal court at Indianapolis.

The strike, as far as it could be learned here, was not authorized by any officials of the United Mine Workers of America, and was instituted by the local miners on their own account.

LEFT $300,000 FORTUNE FIGHT ON BONUS AMENDMENT

Mrs. Easton, Who Had Lived in Seclusion Since Husband Died, Found Dead

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The $300,000 fortune that Mrs. Margaret Easton had held as dross since her husband's death, seven years ago, sent her into seclusion, today awaits a more appreciative owner.

The "queer little old lady," as her neighborhood knew her, was found dead Saturday night, a victim of starvation, according to neighbors' gossip, although a physician certified she had died from natural causes.

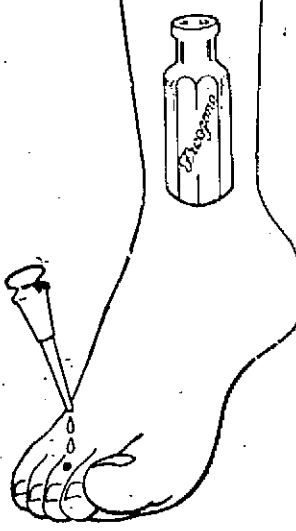

Mrs. Easton had died as she had lived—alone in the basement of the big house she closed when her husband died of a grocer, apprehensive because she had taken in no food for a week, found the body erect in an armchair, and summoned her physician, Dr. J. S. Baldwin.

After assuring himself that Mrs. Easton was beyond his aid, Dr. Baldwin looked about the rooms and in a half open dresser drawer, covered with dust, found 15 bank books showing balances of about $250,000, together with $1576 in large bills. Other drawers yielded up discarded old fashioned articles valued by the million at $50,000. The upper floors of the house, richly furnished, were heavily carpeted with dust and apparently had not been visited for years.

Neighbors said Mrs. Easton had rarely, if ever, ventured out of her basement home, and never received callers. The police are trying to trace two pieces of the dead woman who are said to live somewhere in Greater New York, and who are believed to be the "queer little old lady's" only heirs.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an itching corn, instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. Adv.

Your Parents and Grandparents as a rule, believed in doctoring with nature's remedy, the life giving extracts of leaves, roots and herbs, and you must admit that a very large majority of them lived to a ripe old age; that same treatment that kept them so well and vigorous will keep you the same.

SEVEN BARKS is made from the extracts of several different kinds of leaves, roots and herbs, and has for nearly 50 years been recognized as the most reliable remedy for correcting and preventing disturbances of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It cures the stomach and bowels working right and most other ailments will vanish.

SEVEN BARKS restores a healthy, natural bowel action, in most cases it promotes appetite, and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. It also acts on the liver and kidneys, failure of these to act properly allows the whole body to be poisoned, and brings about other complications.

The principal cause of backaches is the kidneys when they do not perform their duty, and it is not unusual and the poisons thrown off, serious trouble will happen. SEVEN BARKS will not only relieve kidney troubles, but keeps your stomach in good condition and your liver active.

Ask your druggist for SEVEN BARKS. If he does not have it he will get it for you. Adv.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles HAVE TO GO

Clogged up kidney deposits are dissolved and the toxins (poisons) completely driven out. "Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning of your kidneys. Don't neglect them. When your back aches, have darting pains, dizziness, headaches, bad stomach and tongue, annoying bladder troubles, cloudy urine, rheumatism, puffy eyes, streaks, or any other tendency to Bright's disease, diabetes or Gravel, Kidney Trouble in its worst form may be stealing upon you. Never mind the failures of the past insist upon having, at once, a bottle of guaranteed Dr. Carey's Kidney-Bladder Prescription No. 577. (Liquid or Tablet form) from Fred Howard, 137 Central St., A. W. Low, drug store, or any other reliable druggist for Kidney and Bladder troubles. Don't wait away; they will grow upon you slowly, stealthily and with unfailing certainty. Every good druggist has been authorized to refund purchase price on two bottles to all who state they have had no benefit. Adv.

Sen. New, Opening Battle for Republicans, Declares it Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The republican fight on the Reed soldier bonus amendment to the tax revision bill was opened today by Senator New, republican, Indiana, who raised the point that the amendment was unconstitutional.

Senator New said the Reed amendment proposed to tax one class of citizens for the benefit of another and that this was in violation of the spirit of the constitution.

Arguing that the amendment was not in conflict with the constitution, Senator Reed told the republicans that they would have to vote on the soldier bonus proposition. He said he understood that the majority proposed to shut off discussion of the question by moving to table the amendment when offered.

A vote to table this amendment would be worse than a vote against the soldiers' bonus bill because it will be a vote against the soldiers and in favor of the profiteers at the same time," he declared.

The bonus bill will be brought to a vote, Senator Reed continued, adding that the republicans might as well "prepare to meet the issue."

Democratic leaders said today that because of the reported plans of the republicans to lay the Reed amendment on the table it would not be offered until there had been free discussion. If it is tabled then or defeated, it is the plan of the majority to offer the bonus bill as an amendment to the tax measure with a provision that the cost of carrying out its terms should be paid out of interest on the nation's foreign debt.

Another effort was made today to republican leaders to get an agreement for a vote on the tax bill Wednesday but democratic senators objected and the negotiations ended.

"A Coward's Motion"

The proposed motion to table his amendment was "a coward's motion," Senator Reed declared, to dodge a direct vote.

"This is the third time you've dodged this question," Senator Reed said to the republicans, adding that "the slaughter" of the bonus bill was "in the interest of big money—the profiteer."

Attacking Secretary Mellon of the treasury department, for recommending delay on the bonus, Senator Reed said:

"The treasury is run by big business. It is big business."

FUTURE PEACE OF WORLD AT STAKE

Plea for Success of Arms Conference Made by Sen. Swanson, Democrat

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—A plea for success of the armament limitation conference was made by Senator Swanson, democrat, Virginia, in addressing the senate today on problems confronting the forthcoming meeting.

Senator Swanson, who is a minority member of the foreign relations committee and former chairman of the naval committee, suggested agreements which President Harding's enterprise should reach.

"We should recognize," said the Virginia senator, "the dependence of England upon access to the sea alike in time of peace and war for the sustenance of her people and the continuance of her industries, but we should insist that though England's existence depends on her access to the sea, it gives her no right to a naval supremacy that places the commerce of the world under her control and dictation. The freedom of the seas would also give protection to the island empire."

"We should recognize," Sen. Swanson continued, "the danger that confronts France in case Germany should be rehabilitated as a military power. But in order to obtain security for herself France should not insist upon a military dominance, such as to make her a menace to others."

Regarding far eastern questions, Senator Swanson said that China was "the key to settlement" and that it would not be difficult if the nations would adhere to their pledges under the treaty of Versailles.

Confidence that the dispute between this nation and Japan over the island of Yap would be adjusted satisfactorily, was expressed by Senator Swanson.

Asserting the armament limitation conference was the most important "since the world met at Versailles," he added, "upon the statesmanship displayed depends the future peace of the world."

President Harding, the senator said, followed the only course left open when he called the conference. In view of America's refusal to join the League of Nations, which the senator deplored, the calling of the forthcoming conference was the only alternative, he said, following the administration's refusal to have an American representative participate in the league's disarmament councils.

NOT TO RECALL U. S. TROOPS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—President Harding was understood to have expressed opposition today during a conference with Chairman Porter of the House foreign affairs committee, to passage of any resolution providing for immediate withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine.

Several such resolutions are pending before the committee, but it was understood that no action would be taken on them.

The president was said to believe that the war department's policy of gradual withdrawal of troops deals adequately with the situation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—A compromise agreement among administration officials and leaders in congress providing for creation of a department of education and public welfare was indicated today as likely to be reached in the near future. A delegation representing the National Education Association and several other bodies made another appeal to President Harding today to create a separate department but indicated afterward that their real hope now was for a compromise.

Paris Awaits Word From Soviet Russia

PARIS, Oct. 31.—The French foreign office is awaiting an official despatch confirming news of the proposal of soviet Russia regarding the recognition of Russian foreign debts and meanwhile is refraining from comment beyond suggesting that the whole question may be taken up in Washington, as the chiefs of the governments interested will be there in attendance upon the armaments conference. In general the disposition indicated is to make France's policy conform with that of the United States.

Malden Girl Dies of Bullet Wounds

MALDEN, Oct. 31.—Althea B. Knight, shot today by George A. Dunham, Jr., with whom she had been keeping company, died a few hours later at the Malden hospital. After shooting the young woman, Dunham sent a bullet through his own head. "He is not expected to recover. On the way to the hospital, according to the police report, Dunham made the remark that "she got what she deserved." At his home the police found a note in which they said Dunham told of his intention of shooting the young woman.

Gang of Five Men Appeared in Auto and Opened Fire—Two Employes Wounded

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 31.—Emmanuel Hart and Peter Belk, employes of the Charter Oak Garage, were shot but not seriously wounded today by a gang of five men who drove up to the garage and began shooting after some questions concerning the ownership of a touring car in the place. The third man in the garage was Ernest B. Hart, the owner, who was not hit. One of the quintet, Pasquale Mondaro, was captured by the police, who believe that the affair involved liquor running.

All available detectives were assigned to comb the Italian district, where the shooting occurred, for certain well known characters. Mondaro has for several weeks been wanted by the West Springfield authorities as a witness against Patrolman W. J. Lyons, Jr., who has been suspended on a charge of accepting a bribe to allow liquor running in the district he covered.

BROTHERHOOD DIRECTORS ISSUE STATEMENT

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The position of the Brotherhood of Railroad Station Employees as decided upon after the settlement of the threatened railroad strike last week was outlined in a statement issued by the grand board of directors today. By a "recent poll of its membership," the board said, the officers of the brotherhood were "duly authorized to call a cessation of work but owing to recent developments in the situation, the grand officers advised their membership to remain at work until such time as the use of the poll might be made necessary by any attempt on the part of the railroads to further decrease wages. The statement said:

"The board feels that the railroads of the country have unjustly imposed on the employees by their requests to the United States railroad labor board for reduction in wages and also feel that the cost of living does not warrant any such reduction in wages at the present time and are also in perfect accord with the policy as expressed by the other railroad organizations."

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight. "Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic, manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

CHEMISTS AND COLORISTS

Meeting Thursday of American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists

Louis A. Olney of Lowell Textile School Will be Chairman of Meeting

Representative Textile Chemists and Colorists From All Over Country, Invited

The inaugural meeting of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists will be held at the Engineers' club, 2 Commonwealth avenue, Boston Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The meeting, which is being called by the chairman, Louis A. Olney, a member of the Lowell Textile school faculty, will be held for the purpose of putting the newly formed organization on a firm basis and a large number of representative chemists and colorists from all over the country have been invited to attend.

The business meeting will be held between 3 and 5 o'clock and will be followed by a social hour, and dinner. At the close of the dinner the meeting will continue as long as may be necessary to complete the business of

LOCAL EXHIBITS AT BOSTON SHOW

Lowell Exhibits at International Textile Show Attract Great Attention

Much Interest Manifested, Especially in the New Textile Machinery

Commerce Chamber Secretary Pleased With Lowell's Part in Big Show

Lowell exhibits at the International Textile show in Boston are attracting much attention. The energy of local manufacturers in putting carefully arranged exhibits in some of the best sections of the wonderful exposition that completely fills the Mechanics hall, is praiseworthy indeed. It would pay anyone to take a day off and see the show.

This is Secretary Wells' opinion of Lowell exhibits at the International Textile exposition, as expressed to a reporter in the chamber of commerce this morning. Mr. Wells also had a good word to say for the chamber's textile exhibit, too. The space allotted for this display is about 80 feet long, in the gallery, and is numbered 565-521. There was a good attendance yesterday, and much interest shown in the new exhibits, especially new textile machinery, dyes and mill-working materials of every description.

The two Lowell branches of the American Woolen Co. have notable exhibits. One of the largest spaces in the exposition hall has been turned over to this corporation, which is displaying a variety of machinery as well as clothing materials. The company provides a ladies' orchestra, which plays afternoon and evening.

Perhaps one of the most attractive exhibits in the big mill section is the fine display of textile products from the Merrimack Manufacturing Co. J. C. Wadleigh, agent of the Lowell company, has been an enthusiastic worker in behalf of the great exposition, and his energy has brought out exhibits from many mills that are in direct competition. This action is considered a real advantage to the mill business as a whole, and Mr. Wadleigh, it is said, is well satisfied with the splendid exhibit from the Merrimack concern.

The Mineral Soap Co. exhibit is deserving of mention, too. This enterprising Lowell concern is displaying new products for wool scouring, and the officials of this concern have been entertaining visitors from all over the country.

A real innovation in mill machinery is exhibited by the McIntosh Machinery Co., Inc., of Western avenue. This concern is putting on the market for the first time a machine for taking "windings" off bobbins. It is in full operation at the show, and increasing interest is being taken in the new methods of "cleaning the spools."

The National Aniline and Chemical Co. has a display of brand new dyes, manufactured solely to compete with foreign dyes and particularly the cheap German dyes. The latter are coming forward freely now, but American dye-makers believe they will yet capture the American market and perhaps the main markets across the water.

Secretary Wells was entertained by the manager of this exhibit yesterday, and learned that the exhibit cost in the neighborhood of $25,000 to install at the show.

DANGEROUS TO TRAVEL

Mayor Receives Report Relative to Condition of Lundberg Street Bridge

Mayor Perry D. Thompson is in receipt of a letter from President J. H. Huxley of the Boston & Maine railroad stating that the railroad engineers report that the Lundberg street bridge in this city, which carries the main line to Boston in the heart of the freight yards, is in very poor condition and is dangerous not only to ordinary travel, but to trains passing underneath as well. He urges that something be done about this immediately.

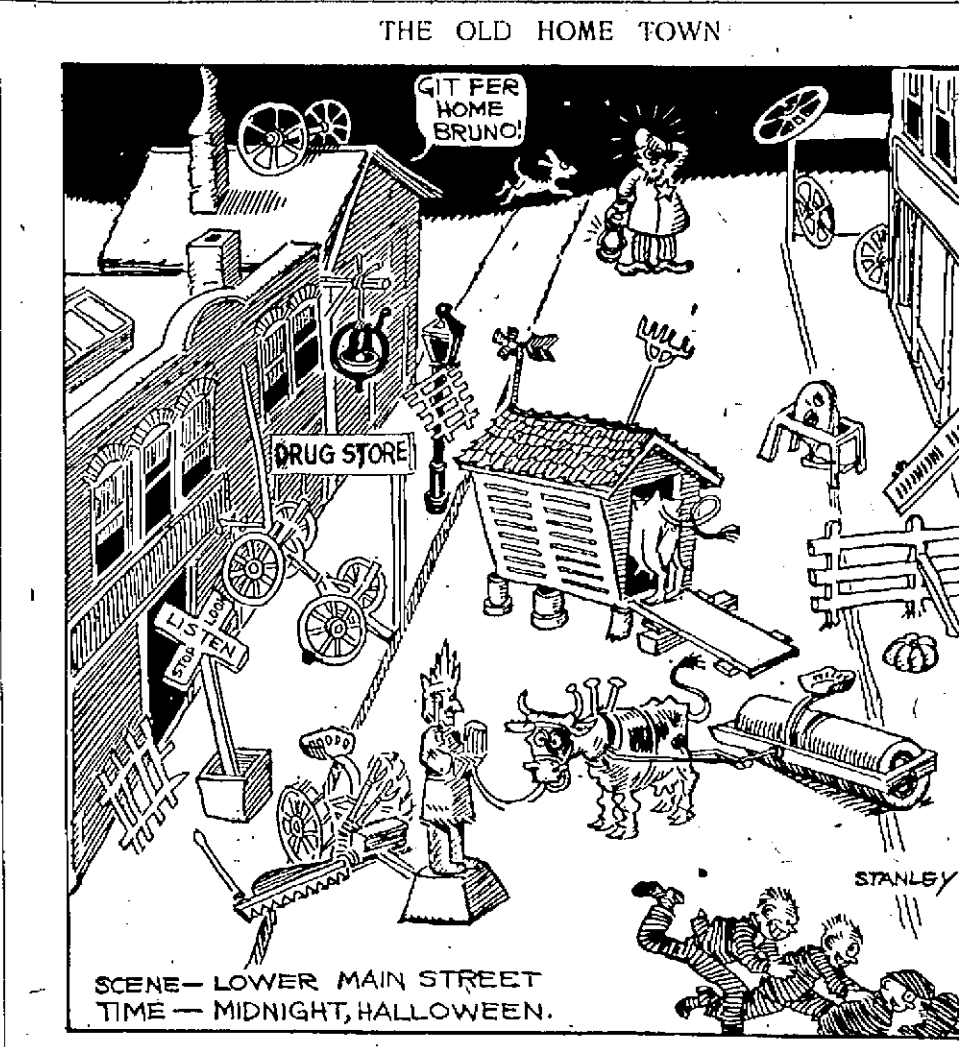

The mayor referred the matter to the city engineer at once and it developed that the engineers had found the bridge in very bad condition, so much so, in fact, that Engineer Kearney has communicated with the Massachusetts department, recommending that the bridge be closed to traffic at once, and no pedestrians be allowed to go across.

Mr. Kearney states that the bridge was built in 1896 and that with so many trains passing underneath daily the great amount of rust and smoke that has been caused has caused the steel work to deteriorate to such an extent that it is absolutely beyond repair. A complete new bridge must be built to replace the present structure, and the engineering department has almost completed the plans. The plans call for a bridge of an altogether different type than that now in place, a plate girder bridge entirely cast in concrete with a concrete floor.

Commissioner Murphy has received Mr. Kearney's letter regarding this bridge, and will take the matter up with the other members of the council as soon as possible.

HARDWARE FOR THE AUDITORIUM

At the last meeting of the auditorium commission, the bids for hardware for the auditorium from various hardware concerns in Lowell and outside were examined. The commission was in doubt as to awarding the contract, and referred the matter to the architects for advice as to which was most suitable or advisable. On the architect's recommendation the contract has been awarded to Ervin E. Smith & Co., of Lowell.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING BUSINESS TIDE TURNING IN THE BAG? IS IT?

Salmon Introduces $10,000 Loan Order for Extension of Water Mains

A brief meeting of the municipal council was held this morning and with the exception of an order introduced by Commissioner Salmon for the borrowing of $10,000 for the extension of water mains, only routine business was transacted.

The meeting was called shortly after 10 o'clock by Mayor Thompson, with 45 members present. A hearing was held on the petition of the New England Telephone Co. for permission to erect a pole in front of premises numbered 31 Barclay street. A commission of protest was received from Mrs. Ellen M. Burns of 31 Barclay street, and the petition was referred. Other hearings were held on the following petitions and inasmuch as there were no remonstrances, all were referred: New England Telephone Co. for the installation of two poles in Pine street, Scannell Boiler works for a garage in Tanner street, Joseph Spencer for a garage in Lawrence street.

George E. Mongeau petitioned for the installation of two white way lights in Dutton street, in front of his new building, which was formerly the Merrimack Manufacturing Co. Mongeau stated that such lights are badly needed there because the street at that point is quite wide. He said if the council deemed it advisable to put in the lights now, he would save the city some money, for a delay in the work would mean the tearing up of the granolithic sidewalk he had about to lay. The mayor said it had been the intention of the council to extend the white way gradually, but this is a bad time because the appropriations are almost exhausted. He also stated that several petitions for new white way lights have been received of late and all have been laid on the table until more money is available.

The Cawley Coal Co. has filed a claim against the city, alleging to have been caused to one of its auto trucks through a defect in Thorndike street. The matter was referred to the mayor and city solicitor.

A bill authorizing Salmon to receive from the Lowell chamber commission through its chairman and secretary, Hon. James B. Casey and Abel R. Campbell, that copies of the new charter be printed and the matter referred to the commissioner of finance with instructions to report as to the cost of the work at the next meeting.

An order for the installation of a gas line in Garden road was adopted, and the following garage licenses were granted: Nellie Murphy, 92 Barclay street, and Margaret Turcotte, 92 Waverland street.

Commissioner Salmon introduced an order for the borrowing of $10,000 for extension of water mains and for water departmental equipment. Questioned by the mayor, the commissioner said the money was needed to continue the extension of the water mains. He further stated that the department has been working on a $25,000 loan all summer and that in very bad condition, so much so, in fact, that Engineer Kearney has communicated with the Massachusetts department, recommending that the bridge be closed to traffic at once, and no pedestrians be allowed to go across.

Rest printing, Tobin's Associate bldg. J. F. Donohue, 222-223 Hildreth bldg. real estate and insurance. Telephone. Electric heaters $5.45. Electric shop. 42 Central street.

Vice President Coolidge Sends Letter to New England Business Men

The local chamber is distributing widely copies of the letter sent to New England business men by Vice-President Calvin Coolidge. In which the latter praises New England for its commercial and industrial morale during the trying period of business depression. Mr. Coolidge says in part:

"Today there is a definite turning of the tide in the business and industrial activities of the country. This upward swing of the business pendulum is clearly defined to those who can read the economic signs of the times. It is in the bank, the railroad, the postoffice, the mill, and the field. And it calls for a spirit of optimism. To no section of the country is this of more importance than to New England. It is the duty of the business men of this section to crystallize this spirit of business optimism so that the entire economic life of the nation may be speedily returned to its rightful condition of prosperity."

DEATHS

GADELL—August Gardell died yesterday at his home in Graniteville, aged 54 years, 3 months and 7 days. He leaves two sons, Rutland Gardell of Graniteville, and Stephen Gardell of Vermont, and one daughter, Sarah Gardell of Graniteville.

Dead Muskrats in Bag Opened in the District Court Today

"What's he got in the bag?" That was the question asked on all sides among spectators, lawyers and police officers in the district court this morning as Fish and Game Warden Harold L. Crosby of Duxbury made his way to the judge's bench when the case of Herbert J. Blikie, of Winchendon, was called.

"What's the charge?" queried Judge Enright of Assistant Clerk Tracy.

"Possession of the dead bodies of five muskrats," replied the clerk.

Remarks and giggles were heard in the court room and smiles wreathed the faces of a majority of those present.

"Has he got the muskrats in that bag?" "Dead more than a month!"

Questions and exclamations of this character circulated among the audience, amidst apparent shudders while the muskrats were stretched to catch a glimpse of what was about to be taken out of the bag.

A conference at the bench occupied several minutes. Then the judge asked Crosby: "Let me see them?"

The fish and game warden bent low, unclasped the black valve, opened it and withdrew its contents. And, lo! there lay five muskrats, some of which Crosby rose from his crouched position, he held up in full view of everybody, present two large muskrats, dead, of course, and half skinned.

And in the bag there were three more. After the slight commotion caused by the innocent rats that had been slain, subsided, the court pronounced a fine of $10, which Blikie paid. And the muskrats were once again reposed in the bag.

FUNERALS

CHARLES—The funeral services of A. G. Charles were held at his home in Chelmsford yesterday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. John G. Lovell, pastor of the Central Congregational church. Besides the usual number of friends and relatives present, there was a delegation from the Chelmsford Veterans' association, of which Mr. Charles was a past commander. The casket was draped with a large American flag and there was a profusion of beautiful flowers. The bearers were four sons, Walter G. Fred S. Will A. and Frank B. Charles. Burial was in Pine Ridge cemetery, where the committal services were read by Rev. Mr. Lovell. The arrangements were in charge of Undertaker William A. Mack.

PHILIP—The funeral of Mrs. Carrie A. Price took place from her home, 451 Hildreth street, yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. George E. Sturtevant, pastor of the First Congregational church of Dracut. The bearers were Rev. Charles L. Holme and Augustus Burdill. Burial was in the family lot in the Westlawn cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

YOUNG—The funeral of William Young took place yesterday afternoon from 16 Gorham street. Services were conducted by Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the First Primitive Methodist church. There were many flowers. The bearers were Charles Scruton, Walter Scruton, Frank Roper and Thomas Bates. Burial was private and took place in the family lot in the Eden cemetery where Rev. Nathan W. Matthews read the committal prayers. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker William A. Mack.

SOLICITOR ABRAIGNED
An advertising solicitor was arraigned in district court today, on a warrant charging larceny of $35. He pleaded not guilty. When counsel for the plaintiff informed Judge Enright that more complaints would probably be lodged against the accused, the court ordered the case to a preliminary hearing, to allow the complainant time to file the further counts, refusing until then to fix bail. The defendant, a young man who told the court he came from Fall River only seven weeks ago, is alleged to have obtained commission money on "fake" advertisements.

McGRATH—The funeral of Joseph McGrath will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his parents, 156 Jewett street. Interment will be held in St. Patrick's cemetery, in charge of Undertakers O'Connell & Fay.

"HELLO GIRL" IS COMEDY IN THE HAPPY NOW DISTRICT COURT

Visiting Week at the Local Exchange Was Great Pastime Breeder

Telephone Girls Have Hundreds of New Friends on Line Now

"And One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin"

The "hello girl" of Lowell is no longer a gum-chewing piece of machinery. Life for her is beginning to take on that "one long path of roses" aspect so often referred to in romantic fiction. The work of "plugging lights" is now a pleasure. The monotonous "number please" has changed to an interested, casual greeting. Although the text in itself contains the same two words, the local telephone girl has many friends now. She has made many within the month. She knows she has friends who realize her work is not easy, but tireless, nerve-racking and often times discouraging. And all this because of "telephone visiting week" which was so recently inaugurated in all central exchanges of the New England Telephone and Telegraph.

During the week in question 3000 local people availed themselves of the opportunity to visit the exchange and be shown the working of it to the minutest detail. Accordingly the telephone girl has made 3000 new friends. The effort to show the subscriber just what the company is up against in furnishing service has borne fruit. It has been mentioned from all sides at the local exchange. The girls have become imbued with a spirit of co-operation never before thought of. All because they realize the people or at least 3000 of them are anxious to co-operate and realize the difficulties which they are called upon daily to surmount. The entire atmosphere at the switchboard is changed. Every time a light comes in a brass plug is inserted by an expectant girl who knows the salutation is going to be sweet and courteous to hear. And the disappointment which comes when a snuff voice makes a complaint is evidenced from all sides.

A shy whisper, and it must be for girls are not allowed to talk at the board. "I guess that party didn't visit our plant," is passed from one mouth to another. But the complainant is so few and far between now they amount to almost nothing.

Charles J. Leathers manager of the exchange here is jubilant over the results obtained during the week. "It is the best thing that has happened to the telephone company in the 30 years. I have been connected with it," he said.

He told of the other visiting days which, as a matter of fact, happen to be any day at all, for the exchange is always open to the public, that accomplished a great deal. But it took five days' concentration to produce results which will be lasting his reign. During the five days and three nights of visiting week 3000 persons were shown through the plant from cellar to roof. The crowd was small the first day but increased until the final day's count was slightly over 1300. Throughout the entire New England system 233,301 persons availed themselves of a peep behind the scenes, as it were.

Probably the most interesting incident and they were many, that happened came as the result of a jury visit to the exchange. The judge of superior court suggested a visit to the plant. Upon leaving, one juror was particularly impressed with the workings of the plant. This juror went to his home in South Acton that night and pondered upon what he had seen. Driver of Wagon Hit by Automobile Was Very Talkative

Vivid Description of Accident as Observed by the Complainant

Witness, Asked Where Horse's Head Was, Said, "In Front of Him"

A bit of comedy went with the trial of a violation of the motor laws case against Walter Young in district court today. The alleged offence took place on August 17 in Davis square where Young, driving an automobile, was charged with having collided with a horse and wagon.

"The driver and owner of this vehicle, the first witness on the stand, the complainant, was a very talkative man and at times it took a severe warning of the court, own counsel and opposing lawyer to bring his vocal thrills to a halt.

He was telling how the horse was "damaged," and describing the affair as he had seen it from his seat on the wagon, besides what he "thought" and "imagined" when opposing counsel, who was examining him, endeavored by all possible means, to stop him in his frantic description, so that he could ask him some questions.

"You'll talk yourself dead, yet," remarked the lawyer for the defendant.

"Well, you get mad, I didn't get excited," quickly retorted the witness, with a comical vein.

The attorney asked several questions, then the witness interrupted: "The other witnesses will tell you all about it, Mister, I don't know nothing."

"I guess we all agree with that last sentence," the attorney returned, amidst general laughter. This witness left the stand after almost talking himself hoarse, to give way to another man. The defendant's lawyer, who was to bring out the exact position of the horse relative to the automobile, following the alleged accident.

"Where was the horse's head?" asked the attorney.

"In front of him," quickly replied the witness.

"Well, we learn something every day," the lawyer remarked.

Young, who said he lived in North Billerica, stated that he was going home from Lowell at the time of the accident. He denied blame for the mishap. Following lengthy argument by both lawyers, the court stated that he held doubt as to who was to blame for the accident, but that he would defend the law when he neglected to return to the scene of the mishap and make known his identity. Then the judge imposed a fine of $20, which was paid.

PROBATION OFFICER

Local Probation Officer to Attend Meeting at State House Tomorrow

Probation Officer Joseph L. Cronin will attend the annual state conference of probation officers at the state house, Boston, Wednesday. This will be the first opportunity for Mr. Cronin to meet the other probation officers of the commonwealth. He is probably the most recent appointee to this office in the state. Having assumed duty last month ago today, the day's session will open at 10 o'clock in the morning and every minute of the busy day will be filled judging by the program set forth. There will be a noon luncheon at the Twentieth Century club. The afternoon meeting will be held at 2 o'clock and Hon. Robert G. Harris, chairman of the commission, will preside. The speakers will include several prominent social service workers, state officials and municipal and district court justices.

as anyone else and must be intelligent, alert and conscientious at all times.

"Right here I want the public to understand how the girls stood up in that trying week we just passed through. If ever a set of girls, and there are 130 odd of them, deserve credit for their loyalty and co-operation it is the one which demonstrated our plant.

"You know it's not easy to receive callers for an entire week at a stretch. The girls were very tired most of the time after the first three days. I noticed several of them drooping in their chairs when the room was empty of visitors. But the minute a group of visitors snipped up with a smile and under force energy carried out her part to the letter. The girls surely deserve all the credit they can get. I am proud of every single one of them.

"I think it would be a fine thing to make the visiting week an annual affair. More and more, would the public come in contact with us and our work. Our doors, books and entire plant is open at all times to the public."

Mr. Leathers today received a letter of commendation from Mr. Jones, president of the company which said every exchange in New England had glowing reports to make on the week and he wanted to compliment the service on the manner in which things were carried out.
